WE SELL FOR PROMPT CASH ONLY.—Our goods are marked at a rate of profit usual on wholesale transactions. We keep no books. FARMER and COMPANY.

CHILDREN'S COSTUMES.

5s 6d to 21s. Is it cardinal you seek? Here is one—a pretty costume in a Norwich rep, fit for a girl of 12, a body in the Langtry style, and tight-fitting skirt, with deep kilting at foot, tastefully trimmed with old gold—here a bow, there a bow—not too much trimming, not too little—all in good taste; price, 10s 6d. Or do you want a more sober tint? Look at this Oxford Beige. It would puzzle you to choose a better wearing dress. It looks warm, and soft, and good, and it is all it looks. The trimming in cardinal Satin de Lyon, and bespeaks the maker's care and cleverness. It is a well-made little dress; price, 12s 6d. There are hundreds of others, also, for our stock is very full just now, and there should be no difficulty in selecting. FARMER and CO.

MANTLES.

We have an enormous stock, all marked at wholesale prices. We cannot enumerate all the styles we have, but you could not name a shape, or design, or material, that we are not showing in full assortment. We have some splendid Black Cloth Dolmans, trimmed silk and fur, at 25s 6d, 27s 6d, 32s 6d, 42s, and up to 5 guineas. Then we show some of the nicest Ladies' Jackets possible to conceive. We commence these as low as 10s 6d, and we have every price up to 45s, about 1000 in all. We have also a nice parcel of Young Ladies' Jackets, with stylish plush hoods, various colours, price 35s. Our mantle department alone is well worth a visit.

FARMER'S.

LADIES' KID GLOVES.

FARMER'S celebrated Half-crown quality, fresh shipment, all colours, all sizes. Also, the Normandie, 4-button, 3s 11d; 6-button, 4s 11d; 8-button, 5s 11d. Also splendid assortment WINTER GLOVES. Children's cloth from 8d per pair; ditto lined silk and cloth with fur tops; ladies' cloth, 1s 3d; black silk Jersey, 2s; ladies' fur-lined, 2s 6d. Wholesale prices for cash only.

FARMER'S.

WINTER HOSIERY.

Now in full assortment, Children's Emb. Cashmere Hose, 7d to 1s; Ladies' Navy and Black Cashmere Hose, 1s 6d; Ladies' Wool Scarfs, 9d to 2s 6d; Ladies' Wool Clouds, French goods, very pretty tints, 3s 11d to 10s 6d.

FARMER'S.

LACE COLLARETTES, 1s to 4s 6d. FARMER'S.

LADIES' UMBRELLAS, 7s 6d, 10s 6d, 12s 6d. FARMER'S.

FRENCH MILLINERY.

A wonderfully nice assortment, just opened, ex mail steamer, Ladies' Velvet and Plush Hats, 12s 6d to 25s; Velvet and Plush Bonnets, 21s to 42s; Children's Trimmed Hats, 10s 6d to 18s 6d; Seal Toques, 6s to 18s 6d. Boys' and girls' felt hats, 2s 6d and 3s; children's white astrachan, Rink, and Tam O'Shanter shapes, 6s 6d. Wholesale prices for prompt cash. FARMER'S.

FRENCH SILKS.

Silks of a pure unweighted character are, as a rule, difficult to obtain, and purchasers are very apt to be misled in making their selections. The safest rule to follow in selecting is to have goods of a first-class maker, and only such. There are not more than some half-dozen good makers in France, and between these, one maker excepted, there is not any very great difference. But the difference between the best and the second best is most marked. It is Eclipse first, and the rest nowhere. Bonnet, the great Lyons manufacturer, towers thus like a Colossus among his contemporaries. Other makers can't approach him. We sell more of Bonnet's Silks than are sold elsewhere in all Australia. We say this advisedly. For this reason we were selected to represent him at the New South Wales great Exhibition. FARMER and COMPANY.

FURS.

Chinchilla, Miniver, Grebe, Ermine, Beaver, Angora, Sable. These and a large variety of Fancy Furs comprise the assortment now offering at Victoria House. We treat furs as we do all others items in marking off—sell them for WHOLESALE PRICES for PROMPT CASH. Then, in buying, we go to the best furriers in the city of London. We are offering a parcel of 500 muffs at 5s 6d. Others at 8s 6d and 10s 6d. Capes, Collars, Collarettes, &c., equally good value. FARMER and COMPANY.

DRESS FABRICS.

About the largest and most comprehensive assortment of Winter Dress Materials we have ever shown. There is no mistaking the public appreciation of our efforts to cater for the wants of our patrons in the Dress Department. Each day crowds line our counters, evidencing the general satisfaction given both in material and price. We have persistently refused to lower the standard of quality ever maintained in this department, notwithstanding many inquiries for Fabrics at lower prices than we quote, far too low, indeed, to hope to purchase a reliable cloth for. We commence our Dress Goods at 7½d, at which price we show 500 pieces; then we rise 2d—9½d, and have 1000 pieces on show. 10½d is our next price; then 1s, 1s 2d, 1s 3d, 1s 4½d, and so on, up to 1s 9d. We have a splendid double-width Cloth at 2s 11d, worth 5s per yard; and, indeed, still quoted at 5s by more than one Sydney house. Then we have a splendid assortment of Shades in French Merinos and Cashmeres, ranging from 2s to 3s 6d per yard. Prices are for prompt cash only. FARMER'S.

LADD'S CANVAS COTS,

make a perfect bed, no mattresses or pillows required. Open and close as readily as an umbrella. Better than any hammock, as they fit the body pleasantly and lay straight. Self-fastening—just the things for hotels, offices, cottages, camp meetings, sportsmen, steamboats. Good for the lawn or piazza. Splendid as spare beds. 500 just received; price, 12s 6d and 16s 6d prompt net cash. As the demand for these splendid cots was extraordinary when first announced, and we have already some three-score orders to execute, intending purchasers are recommended to place their orders without delay. Once seen no householder will be without one or more. Note the prices, 12s 6d and 16s 6d.

FARMER'S.

FARMER and COMPANY.

Much of the worry and trouble incidental to kitchen management may be obviated by a proper provision of kitchen utensils. Kitchen tables 8s to 40s; Kitchen Dressers, 21s to 46s; Paste Rollers, Paste Boards, Potato Mashers, Steak Beaters, Skirt and Shirt Boards, Housemaid's Boxes, Salt, Knife, and Soap Boxes; Towel Rollers, Butter Pats, Washboards, these and other inexpensive but necessary items may be purchased at a saving of 20 per cent. on regular prices by buying at our Furnishing Warehouse for prompt cash. FARMER and COMPANY.

HIGH CLASS TAILORING.

For prompt cash only. Gentlemen who pay have not to find the money for those who don't. Cutters: Messrs. Shearsby, M'Cabe, Phillips, and Irish. Trousers (a splendid selection of materials) commence 16s 6d. Suits, £3 11s 6d. Every garment hand-made, and fitted to the entire satisfaction of purchaser. FARMER and COMPANY.

OVERCOATS.

Our Overcoats for this season far surpass in value anything we have shown before. This is due partly to several extensive and most fortunate purchases of materials from various Scotch and West of England manufacturers, but principally to the fact that the materials so purchased have been made into garments in our own LONDON FACTORY at a saving of quite 15 per cent. on warehouse charges. This saving goes entirely to the consumer. It benefits us in that we are enabled to sell much below any other city house minus a LONDON FACTORY, and to secure a much larger sale and larger aggregate profit, which is all we want. Now, to work a clothing factory in London with advantage requires a large outlet for the garments when made, an outlet indeed that is not possessed by any house in New South Wales that deals directly with the consumer, except ourselves. We stand alone in this respect. Hence it is we are able to sell a Scotch Tweed Overcoat at 21s that costs 30s in other shops; a Grampian Tweed Ulster at 25s that you pay 35s for elsewhere; a superior West of England Serge Overcoat at 36s 6d that costs 50s in most houses. True, the principle of our NEW SYSTEM comes in here and helps us, to wit, PROMPT CASH PAYMENTS by buyer and seller. FARMER and CO.

MACINTOSH COATS.

2000 from a noted manufacturer, a clearing line. The best Oxford and Grey Diagonals, with plaid linings, vulcanite between textures, can be used as ordinary overcoat if required. The best fitting coat, and the cheapest we have ever seen, 30s prompt cash. FARMER'S.

TWEED SUITS, GENTLEMEN'S, at 27s 6d.

Pure Bannockburn and Grampian Tweeds, all thoroughly shrunk; suit fashionable shape; can fit any sort of figure, 27s 6d net wholesale price for ready money, cannot match them in any wholesale house in the city under 30s; ordinary retail price in most houses 37s 6d and 40s. FARMER'S only.

TWEED TROUSERS, for gentlemen, 8s 9d.

Exhibited in our outfitting window. No wholesale house cares to quote this line under 6s 6d; ordinary retail price 8s 6d and 9s 6d; prompt cash price at Farmer's 5s 9d; 2000 pairs to select from, all colours. FARMER'S only.

GENTLEMEN'S WINTER SOCKS,

splendid quality merino, 10s 6d per dozen; extra quality Cashmere, 18s 6d per dozen. A single pair at the same rate. All marked at wholesale prices for prompt cash. FARMER'S.

GENTLEMEN'S UNDERSHIRTS, &c.

A splendid assortment. Gentlemen's Merino Undershirts, warm, fleecy, durable, 2s 3d upwards. Gentlemen's Drawers equally cheap. Ladies' and Gentlemen's Sleeping Hose. Gentlemen's Cardigan Jackets, with and without sleeves. Every item at wholesale price, for prompt cash. FARMER'S only.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

The closest economy is exercised by us in preparing every article of Juvenile dress. We start our Boys' Suits at 7s 6d, then we rise 1s—8s 6d, then 10s 6d, 11s 6d, 12s 6d, 13s 6d, 14s 6d, 15s 6d, 16s 6d, 17s 6d, 18s 6d, 21s, 22s 6d, 25s, 27s 6d, 30s, 32s 6d, 35s. At every one of these prices we can show an assortment that outnumbers by 5 to 1 what can be seen in any other establishment. THE BULLETIN LIBEL CASE.
At a preliminary meeting held at the Royal Hotel, George-street, on Friday afternoon, and convened by a single advertisement, but attended by an influential gathering of citizens, great surprise was manifested at the result of the trial, and there were general expressions of sympathy with the proprietors of the Bulletin in their being saddled with the whole costs of the action.
Mr. G. C. Whiting took the chair, and read letters from prominent citizens and city firms, expressive of sympathy (which they showed practically by enclosing subscriptions), inasmuch as they considered that in so far as the Clontarf paragraph went they had suffered in the DISCHARGE OF A DUTY TO THE PUBLIC, and that the larger question of the LIBERTY OF THE PRESS was involved.
A committee was appointed to make arrangements and to take steps to collect subscriptions to defray the law costs.
Mr. G. R. Whiting
Mr. John M'Laughlin, M.P., and
Mr. Alderman Edward Hordern, were appointed Joint Honorary Treasurers, and Mr. Andrew Allan, and
Mr. Alex. Cumming,
Joint Honorary Secretaries.

LADIES and GENTLEMEN who wish to ASSIST in the MOVEMENT by joining the General Committee, taking Collecting Lists or otherwise, will oblige by communicating with the undersigned, at the offices of the Executive Committee, at the Temperance Hall.

ALEX. CUMMING, } Hon. Secs.

THE WONDERFUL WERTHEIM SEWING-MACHINES.
SOLID REASONS why purchasers prefer the WONDERFUL WERTHEIM SEWING-MACHINES to any other:—
1. With the least trouble in learning and handling, every species of sewing needed in any household may be accomplished upon them.
2. You may kilt dress material, bind scallops with stuff cut on the bias, bind coats or carpets, embroider curtains or children's dresses with wools, silks, or darning cottons, weave your own braid and stitch at same time, make the beautiful nonpareil plaited trimming, sew in small cords or large cords, fold piping and stitch at same time, darn holes in sheets or tablecloths, gather and sew on at once, make ruffling and ruching, make embroidered quilting, sew on trimmings without guiding them, do smallest felling, hem to any width handkerchiefs or sheets; braid, tuck, quilt, and do every kind of straight sewing whatever. All of the above are done without any folding by hand or tacking.
3. One after the other, with same needle, cotton, stitch, and tension, the WERTHEIM FAMILY MACHINE will sew 24 folds of unwashed calico, 7 of moleskin or thick tweed, 2 of finest muslin or cambric, 4 of leather.
4. For each movement of the treadle, the WERTHEIM makes from 25 to 50 per cent. more stitches than any other lock-stitch machine.
5. The new and beautiful AUTOMATIC WINDER is not possessed by the American or Glasgow made machines. This fills the bobbins with cotton as smoothly and tightly as the reels from which it is taken, without guiding by hand.
6. If any obstruction should come under the needle in sewing no injury can result, which would commonly break or derange the old-fashioned machines.
7. Every wearing part is case-hardened.
8. Every machine is GUARANTEED for TEN YEARS, but they will LAST A LIFETIME.
9. The manifold advantages of the WONDERFUL WERTHEIM will be explained to anyone by a free trial in her own home, side by side with any other machine which may be recommended to her, if the agent will venture the test.
10. NO INTEREST—no extra charge is made for long terms of TIME PAYMENT. The WERTHEIM MACHINE WILL FAR MORE THAN PAY ITS COST BY ITS EARNINGS AND SAVINGS DURING THE TIME YOU ARE CLEARING IT OFF.
No matter in what part of the colony you live, we will supply you with a WERTHEIM MACHINE upon TIME PAYMENT—WITHOUT INTEREST.

New South Wales Funded Stock had buyers at 100; and New South Wales debentures, due 1901-2, were wanted at 116.

In the Import markets business opened quietly after the holiday, and many of the transactions of the day were of an unimportant character. Holders of breadstuffs are not anxious to sell in face of a firm market. Adelaide is quoted up to £12 5s., and New South Wales to £12. Tasmanian advices indicate a firmer market for oatmeal, and holders here are asking from £15 10s. to £16. At auction, Messrs. Fraser and Co. quitted a considerable quantity of damaged Mauritius sugar, whites realizing up to £34; browns from £24 5s.; brewing crystals to £33 15s. About 50 pockets of Queensland ration sugars were withdrawn at £26 15s. The other lines of groceries were of an unimportant character. Privately business has been done in elemes at 7¼d., and sultanas have changed hands at 8d.; currants, good fruit are held for 5½d. In Van Houten's cocoa, business was done at 4s. 3d. Jams are in demand, and the agents for the Red Cross and Johnson's brands are scarcely able to supply orders. D. R. J. candles are selling at 8d. on the spot. Groceries in most lines are now in full supply, and importers desiring to push business have to make concessions on late values. In liquors Lowndes's rum is firm, some holders asking 4s. 3d. for hogsheads and quarters. At auction 100 casks of Cameron and Saunders' bottled ale realized 6s. 5d. Sales of metals were made at about late rates. Orb was placed, to arrive, at £23 15s., and Gospel Oak at £25 2s. 6d.; from 30s. to £2 per ton more being obtained for assorted sizes. No. 8 fencing wire still scarce on the spot, and wanted. At the Darling Harbour sales this morning there was a small supply, and very little business was done. Best oaten hay in bundles and trusses, 4s. 6d. to 4s. 9d., ditto in bales, 4s. 3d. to 4s. 8d.; medium quality oaten, bundles and trusses, 3s. 6d. to 4s.; ditto, bales, 3s. 9d. to 4s.; wheaten sheaves, 3s. 8d.; straw, very dull; bales, 2s. 6d. to 2s. 9d.; ditto, bundles, 3s. to 3s. 1d. Potatoes, 3s 3d to 4s 2d. Maize, very dull, 2s 5d. On the wharfs business was also slack. Maize, 2s. 3d. to 2s. 5d.; onions, £7; Warrnambool potatoes, £3 5s. to £3 10s.; eggs, in excess of demand, 1s. 6d. to 1s. 8d.; butter, 1s. 3d. The hay market is well stocked, and prime samples of lucerne have receded to £3. There is a demand for inferior kinds of hay for bedding.

We take the following from a letter from Messrs. Derham and Co., flour merchants, of Melbourne:—

"Referring to the wheat returns, we beg to point out that the acreage set down for 1880-81, namely, 928,080 acres, seems very large. On reference to our last year's circular, it will be seen that we noted the increased acreage then stated as too small, and the probability seems to us to be that the increase shown for 1880-81 is in fact that of two years. The anxiety shown for the publication of the statistics this year has been very much greater than usual, owing to an opinion having gained ground that we had exported all our available surplus. From the statist's figures, it will be seen that this opinion was not unfounded. Although the figures are only approximate they are, nevertheless, near enough to form some estimate of our position, which appears to be as follows:—

	Bushels.	Bushels.
Total yield of wheat	—	9,133,930
Consumption for a population of 855,000 persons, at 5½ bushels per head	4,702,500
Seed for say 1,000,000 acres, at 1¼ bushels per acre	1,250,000	5,952,500
Showing a balance available for export of		3,181,430
We have supplied to the 14th instant 694,622 bags wheat, equal to say... ...	2,052,143
And 107,949 bags flour, equal to	496,570	3,448,713
Thus showing a deficiency of		267,283
To which must be added shipments loading, but not yet cleared, amounting to about 3700 tons, which, at 37½ bushels to the ton, gives		138,133
Total deficiency		405,416

Although we carried forward a balance to credit from last year, it was only such a one as ought to be shown at the end of this."

Messrs. Fraser and Co. will sell, to-morrow, a quantity of galvanized iron, fencing wire, &c.

Messrs. Mort and Co. report an active demand at their wool sale to-day, with improved prices for all fairly conditioned lots. Nearly every line offered was sold, medium scoured realizing 12d. to 18d. per lb., greasy 7d. to 9d. No good fleece wool was submitted. The leading lines were:—PGN over New England, scoured at 12¼d. to 18d.; B, 25 bales at 11d. to 17¾d.; PSM, at 17¾d.; H, at 13d. and 15½d.; EH & Son over Bokemar, 34 bales greasy at 9d.; PC over 6, at 8d; ⊥ over writing X over Baan Bas, at 8½d. Sheepskins were in brisk demand, and all offered were sold at full values. Quotations: Best, 6¼d. to 7¼d.; medium, 4½d. to 5½d.; pelts and short growth, 1½d. to 3d. lb.

Mr. John Bridge also offered a catalogue of wool and sheepskins to-day, and reports the prices obtained as about equivalent to those ruling at the previous fortnightly sale.

Sales of leather were held to-day by Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Mort and Co., John Bridge, and Maiden, Hill, and Clark. Prices were unchanged. Kip realized 13d. to 16½d.; sole, 7¼d. to 9½d.; calf, 23d. to 30d.; yearling, 19d. to 28d.; tweed, 18d. to 26½d.; harness, 12d. to 14½d.; kangaroo, 21d.; bag, 9s. 6d. to 13s.; bridle, 10s. to 13s.; basils, 8s. to 13s.

The British Trade Journal says that the French Customs returns record a great increase in the export of woollen fabrics from France to England—a fact which has attracted considerable notice at Bradford. Of merinos the export rose from 2,466,914 kilos. in 1879, to 3,268,083 kilos. in 1880, and nearly three-fourths of this trade was with England. In cashmeres and other mixed cloths the increase was from 189,555 kilos. to 441,574 kilos.; in "divers woollen stuffs," from 2,878,657 kilos. to 3,890,000 kilos.; and in "undenominated mixed woollen stuffs," from 460,038 kilos. to 600,643 kilos.

Commercially, says the Investor's Manual of March 26, England cannot be considered prosperous just now, the market prices of commodities being generally very low, and trade profits small. Tea has been cheaper than it was ever known to be before; and all kinds of produce sell at low prices. Pig iron has again fallen, and stocks have ominously increased; though finished steel goods still find a ready market. Steam coal sells well. The addition to the exports last month may be wholly attributed to Indian requirements.

The Customs duties received to-day were as follows:— Spirits, £1916 11s.; wine (still), £30 5s.; wine (sparkling), £92 10s.; ale, porter, and beer (in bottle), £42 0s. 9d.; tobacco and snuff, £101 14s.; tobacco, unmanufactured, £78 18s.; cigars, £56 3s. 11d.; tea, £422 11s. 5d.; coffee and chicory, £332 15s. 4d.; sugar (refined), £3 7s. 11d.; sugar (unrefined), £559 18s. 6d.; molasses, £31 10s. 2d.; opium, £23 9s. 5d.; rice, £238 2s.; dried fruits, £703; hops, £11 5s.; specific duty, £1346 8s. 10d.; pilotage, £43 14s.; harbour and light dues, £41 6s. 8d.; total, £6110 12s. 4d.

Messrs. Macdermott, Brothers, and Scarr report having sold for Messrs. E. T. Brisslerdon and Co., the Bransby Downs Run, Wilson River, Queensland, unstocked, for £2500. Mr. George Broad, purchaser.

MINING.

Long Tunnel Gold-Mining Company.—The mining manager's report for the fortnight ending 23rd instant:—"During the past fortnight the tunnel has been extended 37 feet, making the total length 1000 feet. We have passed through the hard belt I reported in my last, which ran from 5 to 6 feet thick, and lay at an angle of 45 degrees with the course of the tunnel. Since passing through this belt the granite has been somewhat harder, and requires blasting occasionally, but I think it will merge into softer rock again shortly. Now that we are entering into deeper ground, boring through for drainage may be undertaken with advantage very soon."

Some persons express doubts whether the present land "mania," as they call it, can possibly last, and whether the prices of land can increase in the future as they have done in the past. A few simple facts may answer them.

The Census shows that the population of Sydney and the suburbs has increased 62 per cent. in the last ten years; that is to say, where there were 5 houses in 1871, there are 8 in 1881, and at the same rate will be 13 in 1891, and 21 in 1901. Such an enormous increase as this fully accounts for the constant cry for land.

Sydney is on the only first-class harbour in the whole New South Wales seaboard. The whole of the inland trade must, therefore, pass through Sydney, and if anything in this world is certain, it is that Sydney must be a vast capital.

Circumstances, however, prevent this mighty city from spreading in all directions. London, which can spread out freely on all sides, has been absorbing her suburbs for centuries, and is still going so more rapidly than ever. How much more will Sydney, which can only spread away from the sea to the west, absorb all her suburbs which lie along her western line of railway. If the evidence of fact is worth anything Sydney will, in thirty years, sweep right round, and over Parramatta itself.

If this is common sense, what better can any man do, whether he wishes to invest or to speculate, than buy suburban land which in a few years will be city lands? BURWOOD in particular invites attention. It is near Sydney, has a fertile soil, a healthy climate, well-kept roads, handsome buildings, and pretty neighbourhoods. And in Burwood there are few better localities than the GREEN SLOPES, situated at a few minutes' walk from the station, and on the Burwood Road itself.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

THURSDAY, MAY 26, 1881.

The Appropriation Act for the current year contains items of expenditure for charitable purposes amounting to a total sum of £144,734, without including the cost of buildings, and some other contingencies. That is equal to an annual subscription of one pound from every head of a family towards the support of his afflicted and indigent neighbours. At the same rate the charitable contributions of the United Kingdom should amount to about seven millions sterling. The actual subvention from the Treasury was only £574,807; but the total yield of the poor-rate and receipts in aid for the whole United Kingdom in support of 1,327,800 paupers was £14,883,006. The poor-rate in Great Britain has to meet some other local charges besides the maintenance of paupers; and on the other hand, the hospitals and lunatic asylums depend mainly upon voluntary subscriptions. But what a burden upon the industry of the mother country must this pauper class be, numbering nearly one-twentieth of the entire population!

The institutions in New South Wales nearest akin to the Parish Unions of England are our Asylums for the Infirm and Destitute established in Hyde Park, at Parramatta, and at Liverpool. Their manager, Mr. F. King, had his report for 1880 ready to lay on the table of Parliament before the prorogation, and it has now been printed and published. The information it conveys is somewhat meagre. For instance, it gives a return of the average age of "deceased inmates of the Government asylums," by which ambiguous phrase must be meant persons who died while they were inmates; but no corresponding return is supplied as to the ages of the living. Again, in our prison and some other returns the nationality, education, and religion of inmates are given; and, for the sake of comparing one with the other, as well as with the statistics of other countries, the charity statistics of the colony ought to be published upon a similar basis. But this is not done in the report before us. Taking, however, such information as Mr. King does supply, it appears that the three Poor Asylums have accommodation for 1645 persons, including the Erysipelas Hospital at Parramatta, and that the daily average number of inmates last year was 1566. This is at the rate of one out of every 490 people of all ages resident within the colony. The proportion of paupers in the United Kingdom was one for every twenty-six inhabitants, a rate which would multiply our number twenty-fold. But in a young country like New South Wales, with virgin soil relatively unlimited at present, with boundless stores of mineral wealth, a genial climate, high wages, and the necessaries of life cheap and abundant, pauperism should scarcely exist. In England there is hardly any other refuge for the agricultural labourer in old age but the workhouse. He goes to work in the fields as a boy at an age when he ought to be at school; he grows up to manhood, and, driven by discontent with the hard fare and discomfort of the parental home, he marries early, in the hope of bettering his circumstances. Soon the family maintenance begins to tax his earnings; year by year his burden increases, with no increase in his means of meeting it, until his home becomes a repetition of the parental home he prematurely left, and he has at last to bury his infirmities and his disappointment in the Parish Union. Thousands of sober, honest, industrious peasants have had to run a course like that generation after generation, and when drink and idleness have been superadded, the county prison has only too commonly had to be substituted for pauper relief. The danger to the stability of the present social order of things in England lies in the precarious condition of that section of the working classes from which her paupers are mainly derived. No extension of the franchise, no increase of representation, will cure the evil. The great landlords and capitalist farmers can do more to extinguish pauperism than the Legislature can, although the Legislature can help them by reforming the land laws, not of Ireland only, but of the whole United Kingdom.

The inmates of our asylums are presumably the aged and infirm, who are unable to support themselves, and who have no relatives here to undertake their maintenance. Rich as the colony is, there will always be a certain number in that position, and the State must take their support upon itself in default of other provision. The average cost per inmate for the whole average number of 1566 last year was £12 4s. 2d., which is much less than the average of the last eighteen years, although higher by about one pound per head than during 1870 and the two following years. Salaries absorb about one-sixth of the cost, clothing another sixth, contingencies—whatever that may mean—the same proportion, and rations nearly one-half. But why should the cost per head for rations be £6 5s. 8¼d. for 263 inmates at Parramatta, and only £5 19s. 11¼d. for 275 inmates at the Hyde Park institution, and £5 18s. 7½d. for 731 inmates at Liverpool? It cannot be on account of medical comforts at Parramatta, because the Erysipelas Hospital is given separately, in which the cost of rations per head for 297 inmates was only £5 18s. 9d. Provisions ought to be as cheap at Parramatta as at Liverpool, and if they are, the Government contract should not show such a discrepancy in favour of Parramatta.

There is one matter about which the report says nothing—the unsuitable character of the site and buildings at the top of King-street. Apart from the Domain, which cannot be used as a promenade for the inmates, there is not space for the decent accommodation of so many paupers within the Macquarie-street enclosure, even if the Immigration Depot also were not located there. Moreover, the building is one of the ugliest in Sydney, as well as one of the oldest. The sooner it can be pulled down, as the antiquated and dilapidated Infirmary has been, the better will it be for the destitute and infirm, as well as for the health and beauty of the capital. Instead of being cooped up in back yards, with nothing to look at but crumbling brick walls, the inmates could be transferred to a home in the country, with green fields and the fragrant bush around them, and the fresh, pure breath of heaven to minister to their health and happiness. To send them to Parramatta or Liverpool is undesirable, for there is already in the management of our charities too much of the barrack system of herding together indiscriminately great masses of humanity. Institutions of moderate size are not more expensive, and they are far more efficient than great, overgrown establishments, where there is no room for the play of personal sympathy, but where everything goes on with the monotony of automatic and mechanical routine.

It has occurred very naturally to the Irish agitators, that if they could make common cause with the working classes of Great Britain, they would secure an all-powerful ally, and the large number of Irish labourers settled in England gives them a sympathising population to start with. The landless classes in England have a natural antipathy to landlords, and are prepared beforehand to believe in the wrongs of tenants. Yet the Irish campaign in England has been in the main a failure. In the Nineteenth Century for February, Mr. Burt endeavours to explain the cause of this failure. He does not pretend to speak with authority on the subject, but as a Parliamentary representative of the working classes, and as constantly in communication with them, he is probably pretty correct in his statement of the opinions that are current among them. He tells us that so far as the question is one of the poor man against the rich, and of the labourer against the proprietor, their sympathies go with the Irish agitation; and they go with it also in so far as it is a demand for self-government. But they have little or no sympathy with the violent courses that have been adopted in Ireland, and none with the obstructive tactics that have been adopted in Parliament. If Mr. Burt is correct in interpreting to the world the sentiments of the working classes in England, there is much that is satisfactory in his statement. Under the reduced suffrage the working classes are getting not only an increased amount of political power, but are likely to have the dominant power, and if in common with the Irish agitators they were prepared to secure immediate results by the adoption of violent and even revolutionary methods, England might bid good-bye to that steady course of progressive reform under which "freedom broadens slowly down from precedent to precedent." Mr. Burt assures us that in the main the working classes of England are steady to the cause of peaceful and legal reform, and that they are not prepared to give their sanction to the Irish method. They are proud, too, of the Parliamentary institutions of their country, and are not prepared to overturn them.

Still further, Mr. Burt says that the Irish agitators have misunderstood the principles and the methods of the English working class. Their orators have been to the great towns of England, and, in addressing great mass meetings, have practically said:—"Our principles are your principles; our methods are your methods; we have simply taken up with the policy of the Trades Unions, and have worked it on a national instead of a trade scale." This the English artizans deny, and even resent; they affirm that, though violence has occasionally disfigured trade disputes, violence is not a cardinal principle of union policy; and they object to being made responsible for having, by example, offered a justification for Irish outrages. They assert that there is nothing in the precedents set by English trade-unionism which authorises the Irish orators to appeal to the English unions for support to a system of terrorism.

Still further, there is a want of sympathy with the Irish refusal to accept remedial measures at the hands of the Government. The Irish members have shown themselves more rebellious to Mr. Gladstone than they ever did to Mr. Disraeli; yet the latter offered them nothing, while the former has offered them much. Mr. Gladstone has the warm sympathy and almost the affection of the working men of England. They believe that he is honestly trying to do his duty, and to solve the Irish problem as far as he can in a rational and legitimate way, and they do not like to see the Irish orators denouncing him and all the members of his Government as people from whom nothing good is to be expected. The solid common sense of the people tells them that this accusation is not true, and they will not pretend to believe it. For the reasons thus disclosed, the impassioned eloquence of the Irish speakers has fallen flat on the ears of the English working man, and the support given by the House of Commons to Mr. Gladstone's Irish Bill will be approved of in the main by the wage-getting classes of England. It is possible that Irish agitators may themselves learn a lesson from their failure—may learn how weak is physical force in a solid and well-governed country, and how great is the power of opinion in a country where speech is free.

On several occasions we have drawn attention to the scheme of compulsory insurance propounded by the Rev. W. L. Blackley, by means of which he proposes to abolish pauperism, and to substitute for it a self-reliant provision for accident and old age. His scheme in the main consists in compelling young men between the ages of seventeen and twenty-one, at which time the income is large in proportion to the responsibilities of life, to make successive payments which should be enough for life. Mr. Blackley contends that the whole difficulty may be got over by concentrating it in these few years—the years in which the burden can be most easily borne. The State insurance fund will come early into possession of the money, and by investing and reinvesting at compound interest, will be able to meet all claims without anything in the shape of a tax or poor-rate. Under such a system, it is contended that every man will insure himself, on a sound commercial principle. The State will merely make the Act compulsory and universal, will give the guarantee, and will undertake the management.

We have also given some account of the compulsory insurance law which Prince Bismarck, adopting the rôle of a social reformer, has introduced into the German Legislature. In the Contemporary Review Mr. Blackley investigates the scheme of the German statesman, and, in the main, criticises it unfavourably. In the first place, he points out that though it is avowedly put forward only as an introductory measure, its scope is extremely limited, being, in fact, at present, nothing more than an insurance against accident only for factory workers in certain trades, whose wages fall below two pounds a week; in other words, it is only a modification of the Employers Liability Law increasing the liability of the employers, and at the same time introducing the State to share the burden. Of course, if the principle of the measure is accepted and becomes popular, it could be indefinitely expanded; but, as it stands at present, the scheme would not touch the mass of the population.

Secondly, he considers that the bill has been introduced simply as a sop to the Socialists, and that in intent and construction it is to that extent a mistake. The true reform is not to make the working classes increasingly dependent on the Government, or their employers, but increasingly dependent on themselves, and the function of the Government should be limited to making every man provide for himself, and to taking charge of the collection and distribution of the money.

Prince Bismarck's system draws a line at certain rates and wages, and applies different principles to workmen in proportion to their earnings. Thus persons earning wages between fifteen shillings and two pounds a week will have to pay half the cost of their maintenance while suffering from accident, and their employers the other half. Persons earning less than fifteen shillings a week will pay nothing, the employer paying two-thirds, and the State the remaining third. The effect of this system is that the poorer class of workmen are half insured against a certain risk at the cost of their employers, and a still poorer class are insured wholly by the joint action of their employers and the State. Mr. Blackley points out that this is only a poor-rate in a disguised form, and that instead of making the artisan self-reliant, it provides for him in certain cases partly at the expense of his employer and partly at the expense of the State. The evil of pauperism is consequently not got rid of, and a principle which has done so much harm in England is to be made the basis of an expanding system in Germany. It is possible, he thinks, that the poorest class of workers may look upon this State donation with delight, and clutch at it with eagerness, but precisely in proportion as they do will they become demoralised; and so far from the State curing Socialism by this means, he thinks it will simply increase the danger, by educating the poorest class to look to the State to make good the smallness of their income. He maintains that the effect of a poor-rate is always to degrade the rate of wages, by bringing the State-supported labourer into competition with the self-reliant labourer. As an illustration of this he instances the following fact:—In Whitechapel, outdoor relief was abolished. The immediate effect was to raise the rate of wages, and within three months to put a stop to the lowest class of slop-work. When people could get their food partly from the workhouse, they worked for lower wages; when they could no longer do that, they asked and obtained higher wages, and those who were not worth that amount cleared out to other occupations and other localities.

Mr. Blackley is also of opinion that to throw upon employers a large amount of the cost of insuring workmen will tend either to diminish production or to lower the rate of wages. The first direct effect will be to diminish the rate of profit. A reduction in profit tends generally to a reduction in the rate of wages; and, if that cannot be secured, then investment in productive industry is discouraged.

There is one provision in Prince Bismarck's scheme which Mr. Blackley thinks is good, and might be adopted with advantage by English benefit societies, namely—that nothing is payable in case of sickness for the first four weeks. He thinks the effect of this is to induce men to keep some little sum of money in hand, and to operate as a check upon malingering.

The information published in another column to the effect that the authorities have isolated a Chinese house in Lower George-street, on account of a case of sickness to which the attention of the medical officers of the Government has been directed, is of a disquieting character. Its significance is increased by the fact that within the last few days some three hundred and fifty Chinese immigrants have been landed from the steamer Brisbane, after having been detained in quarantine because there had been a case of small-pox on board. As the patient in the house in question is a child born in the colony, not a new arrival, and as so short a time has elapsed since the landing of the Brisbane's passengers, it is to be hoped that there is no real ground for coupling their arrival with this particular case; or, in other words, for supposing that small-pox has been introduced into the city. But whatever the nature of the disease may be—and upon that point we have no certain information—it is well that the authorities have acted promptly, and it is clearly their duty to continue acting with vigilance and vigour. It is expected that another steamer approaching the port will bring a full cargo of Chinese passengers; and whether the present case be a matter of serious importance or not, it may be assumed that their condition will be inquired into with the utmost strictness before they are allowed to land and mingle with their fellow countrymen. It would be a matter for much regret if unnecessary alarm were created by the precautions which have been taken; and to prevent mistakes and exaggeration, it is advisable that the exact facts should be made known as soon as they can be stated with anything like certainty.

The practices of reckless driving and furious riding are duly recognised by the law as offences deserving of punishment, and in the greater thoroughfares they are ordinarily held under sufficient control. But in suburban roads the same degree of control cannot always be exercised, and the danger to the public, arising from dashing spring-carts and galloping horses, is by no means inconsiderable. Accidents can never, of course, be entirely provided against, and even carelessness is an offence which may be looked upon without more bitterness than public necessities require. But there is another, and by no means an uncommon, sort of reckless driving which demands the severest repression. There are young men in charge of butchers' and bakers' carts, and similar vehicles, who often take a malicious delight in making their weight and power felt upon vehicles of a lighter description. They sweep the roads in pretty nearly the same spirit as the Setons or the Ogilvies used to "sweep the causeway" in old Edinburgh. It is their malicious pride to make all give way before them; and if they can so compass things as to bring their heavy wheels against the lighter wheels of buggies and similar traps, they care nothing for the consequences to others. They find themselves in a situation to have "a lark," and they avail themselves of it. They exemplify, for the time being, the inflation proverbially ascribed to beggars on horseback. If they do a serious mischief, the engine employed in the sport is available also for speedy escape. They swoop down upon their prey, and, the crash accomplished, dash away jubilant. To take off a wheel is their constant threat; to perform the feat is to rise to the rank of a hero among their associates. There have been several instances of injury resulting from this phase of larrikinism within the past few days. A poor woman was killed, and Mr. Macquarie barely escaped the same fate only yesterday, and in each case the perpetrators showed their disposition by endeavouring to escape, instead of attempting to succour the victims of their recklessness.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Turco-Greek frontier question has been settled at last, and Europe, for a time, will breathe somewhat more freely. A convention between Turkey and Greece has been signed, and this may be regarded as the last of the many issues to which the Russo-Turkish war gave rise. The terms finally agreed upon have not yet transpired, but the territory actually ceded to Greece will, when the terms are made known, probably be found to be that agreed upon by the ambassadors of the Great Powers, and which was a compromise between the proposals of Turkey and the demands of Greece. This includes the greater part of Thessaly and Epirus up to the Gulf of Arta, and it was proposed by the Powers that, inasmuch as the cession of Prevesa was absolutely refused by the Porte, the waters of the Gulf should be neutralised and all obstructions to free navigation removed. Whether this concession has been granted or not, we are not in a position to state. But this is certain, the Hellenes have obtained a large accession of very valuable territory, and in acquiring it they have not lost one drop of blood. This is a satisfactory termination to the negotiations that have been in progress for a long time, and in the course of which the two countries more immediately concerned were more than once on the verge of war. Both powers thoroughly prepared for such a contingency, which, however, has been happily averted by the apparently inexhaustible patience of the ambassadors entrusted with the delicate task of mediation. With regard to the Tunisian difficulty, it is now declared that there was no foundation for the statements that the Sultan had deposed the Bey on the ground of his having exceeded his duties in signing the treaty with France. From another of our messages this morning, we learn that the commander of the unfortunate warship Doterel, which was destroyed in the Straits of Magellan on the 26th April by an explosion on board, has reported to the Admiralty, but his communication gives no clue to the cause of the explosion, and the occurrence will probably remain an unsolved mystery.

The R. M. S. Bokhara, with the English mails via Suez to April 22, arrived at King George's Sound at an early hour yesterday morning. The Sydney portion of her mails will most probably be delivered next Wednesday morning. In another column we publish a summary of news brought by the Bokhara, and telegraphed from Albany; the chief item relates to the last hours of the Earl of Beaconsfield.

Yesterday a child of On Chong, one of the principal Chinese merchants of the city, and who resides and carries on business in Lower George-street, was attacked with illness. Medical advice was sought, and Dr. Foucart, the Government medical officer, subsequently sent for. The patient was also seen by Dr. Alleyne. The result of the visit of the medical gentlemen was that the place was ordered to be quarantined. For this purpose policemen were stationed at the back and front of the building, and no one is allowed either to go into or leave the place. The disease has not developed sufficiently to enable the doctors to say for certain what it is. It is believed to be chicken-pox, but the authorities thought it desirable, in the interests of the public, to take proper precautions to insolate the patient, lest the ailment should prove to be small-pox.

The Hon. John Lackey, Minister for Public Works, having sanctioned employment of a competent mining engineer to make an examination of the hill at Newcastle where the fortifications are being erected, and to report upon the underground workings, Colonel Scratchley has requested Mr. T. Croudace, manager of the Lambton Colliery, to undertake the duty. The examination will be made at once.

Since the appointment of the school attendance and payments officers, gazetted on the 5th instant, the measures devised by Sir John Robertson for enforcing the provisions of the compulsory clause in the Public Instruction Act have been in progress with very beneficial results, both in the way of the attendance and payments officers obtaining a thorough knowledge of their duties, and in regard to an increased attendance of children at the Public schools. When the time arrived for certain school districts to be proclaimed as places where the compulsory clause would be brought into operation it was Sir John's desire that the officers entrusted with the work of enforcing the provisions of the clause should thoroughly understand the duties they were required to perform, and also that as far as the country districts were concerned the duties of the attendance officers should commence simultaneously. With this object in view these gentlemen on receiving their appointments were directed to come to Sydney in order that they might be put through a complete course of training, and for the last fortnight they have been employed under the supervision of Mr. A. W. Sladen, principal school attendance and payments officer, in enforcing the provisions of the 20th clause in Sydney and some of the suburbs. Up to the present the labours of the officers have been chiefly directed to the cases of children who have absented themselves from Public schools so frequently as to bring their attendance below the time required by the Act. Care is taken that this duty is performed without any harshness, the action of the attendance officers being confined to making inquiries, explaining the law, and reporting to the principal officer, by whom any subsequent measures that may be necessary are put into operation. Generally, the parents visited express a willingness to comply with the provisions of the Act, and numbers of children have, in consequence, been added to those in constant attendance at the Public schools; but some cases have been met with where persuasion has been found of no avail, and the Crown Solicitor having received the necessary instructions, one or more prosecutions will be commenced immediately. The attendance officers now being trained in Sydney will have the advantage of seeing how these prosecutions are conducted, and by the time they are apportioned to their different districts, which will probably be in about another fortnight or three weeks, they will be thoroughly grounded in all that relates to the duties of their position.

Grand total, 1536. In our report of the above review in yesterday's Herald one or two inaccuracies occur. The companies of the New South Wales Permanent Artillery were under the command of Major Murphy, who was assisted by Major Airey. The field officer of the Volunteer Artillery was Major F. Wells, and not Captain Fahey. Major Richards was with Lieutenant-Colonel Raymond's regiment. Captain Mackenzie, N.S.W.A., was also on the staff in addition to those named as being present.

Yesterday the Military Defences Inquiry Commission completed their consideration of the Military Committee's report so far as to be able to adjourn until next Wednesday week, when probably a draft of the report, which will be forwarded by the Commission to his Excellency the Governor, will be ready.

In the Banco Court yesterday, Campbell v. Hansard, an ejectment action brought to recover 24 acres in Middle Harbour, resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff. In the Jury Court, before his Honor the Chief Justice, Hemming v. the Bank of New South Wales resulted in a nonsuit; it was an action brought for dishonouring the plaintiff's cheques, and the nonsuit was caused by the unilateral nature of a printed bond which had been given by the plaintiff and a co-surety to the bank. Maunsell v. Mudge, an ejectment action, and Humberstone v. Plunkett, an action on a foreign bill of exchange, each resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff.

The sittings of the Central Criminal Court were resumed yesterday, at the Darlinghurst Courthouse, before his Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer, when the Attorney-General (the Hon. R. Wisdom) prosecuted on behalf of the Crown. The charge of burglary against William Skinner and William Thompson lasted the whole day, the case for the Crown not being completed until after 5 o'clock. The addresses of counsel and his Honor summing up lasted another hour and a half, and the jury at 7.15 o'clock returned a verdict of guilty against both prisoners, who were sentenced, Skinner to eight years and Thompson to fifteen years on the roads.

We understand that the Government have appointed Mr. Sydney Maxted, lately headmaster of the Parramatta Protestant Orphan School, to the important position of boarding-out inspector under the State Children Relief Bill.

In reference to the paragraph which on Monday last we reprinted from the Fiji Times concerning the massacre at Tapitawa, the Rev. J. P. Sunderland (agent for the London Missionary Society) desires to state that the London Missionary Society has no connection with the Sandwich Island Mission, and that there are not any of the Sandwich Island teachers under its jurisdiction.

The Rev. E. G. Hodgson, M.A., Warden of St. Paul's College, delivered the fifth of a series of lectures on "Political Economy," in the hall of the Technical or Working Men's College, School of Arts. The attendance was small. The rev. gentleman chose as his subject "The laws which regulate the increase of the aggregate stock of the requisites of production," upon which he dilated for nearly an hour. At the close he was awarded a hearty vote of thanks.

A temperance experience meeting, in connection with the New South Wales Alliance, was held in the new hall, Pitt-street, last night Mr. H. P. Palser, J.P., presided. Several of the audience gave their experiences, showing the evils of intemperance and the blessings of total abstinence. Temperance melodies were sung, and the meeting terminated by a goodly number joining the association.

The St Leonards and Manly Volunteer Fire Brigade Companies had quite a gala day at Manly on Tuesday in honour of her Majesty's birthday. The members of the St. Leonards Company, with their engine drawn by four horses, arrived at Manly about 11 o'clock, and were met by the members of the Manly Company. After parading the principal streets of the town, they finally drew up on a cleared piece of land adjoining the Public school, where there were feasting and sports. Superintendent Gorman, of the St. Leonards Company, put his men to work at dry practice, and the manner in which they got the engine ready for work showed their efficiency. The St. Leonards Company, after spending a most enjoyable day, returned home about 5 o'clock.

We learn by telegraph from Grafton that the Protestant Hall in that town was opened on Tuesday evening by the R.W.G.M. of the Loyal Orange Institution, Brother H. Hicks. There were also present the Grand Treasurer, Brother N. J. Mackenzie; Brothers Chapman, Cox, Lutton, and the D.G.T. Nearly all the Protestant ministers of the district took part in the proceedings, and hundreds were unable to obtain admission, the assemblage being one of the largest that ever took place in Grafton. Everything passed off satisfactorily.

Last night about 36 gentlemen assembled at Hunt's International Hotel to sup with and wish bon voyage to Mr. H. E. Mills (of Mills, Brothers), who is about to visit England. Mr. James Cass occupied the chair, and in proposing Mr. Mills' health wished him a pleasant trip, and expressed the pleasure he felt at being able to pay such a compliment to a very old friend. Mr. Mills responded suitably, and a pleasant evening was spent by those present. Mr. Hunt catered in excellent style.

Through the kindness of Mr. V. Brown, J.P., and other gentlemen, the nineteen inmates of the Shaftesbury Reformatory at South Head were enabled to enjoy a display of fireworks on Queen's Birthnight. At the conclusion the girls sang "God Save the Queen," and gave three hearty cheers for the donors of the fireworks. At the Liverpool Asylum the Queen's Birthday was observed in a very loyal manner. The inmates (upwards of 740) were provided, at the expense of the Government, with a dinner consisting of roast beef, potatoes, and plum pudding. Each man also received a pint of ale, fig of tobacco, and a new pipe. After the usual loyal toasts, those of the manager, visiting clergy, surgeon, superintendent, and the matron were given and heartily responded to. Cheers were given for Dr. Strong and Mrs. Burnside. The mess-room was gaily decorated with flags and evergreens. The old men amused themselves in the afternoon in various ways.

Messrs. M. A. Hilliard and F. Harrison, members of the Sydney Bicycle Club, on Tuesday accomplished the journey from Sydney to Windsor and back, a distance of 72 miles, in eight hours. This may be considered excellent riding, considering the hilly nature of the country and the bad state of the roads for bicycling purposes.

We learn that the Sydney Mercantile Provident Association is making satisfactory progress, as will be observed from our advertising columns. A special meeting of the office-bearers, at which the president (the Hon. James Watson) is to preside, will be held to-night, to hear the directors' progress report. The funds of the association are in a healthy state, and the warm support which has been accorded to the association by the employees of the principal mercantile establishments augurs well for its ultimate success.

A prospectus of the Printers' Provident Society has been handed to us for perusal. We are glad that an attempt has at last been made to start such a society in this colony, for, as a rule, there trade societies tend to bind the workpeople in a bond of fellowship. The kindred or parent society in England has done much good, and numbers among its donors and supporters many of the nobility and gentry of the country as patrons and life-members. The local society (like its prototype in London) must be dependent upon the public for aid and sympathy. We hear that the trade has showed a willingness to support the committee in the formation of the society, and many are ready to become members. The prospectus puts forth that as soon as there are 100 names sent into the committee there will be a meeting called for the effectual organizing and working the society. As far as we have heard, the provisional committee have so far to be congratulated on their success.

A copy of their illustrated descriptive novelty list for 1881 has been forwarded to us by Messrs. Shepherd and Co., of the Darlington Nursery. It consists of 11 pages, and contains, amongst other matters, particulars of flower seeds never before offered for sale in this colony, and of such seeds and plants as have not hitherto been included in their general catalogues.

On Tuesday, when Mr. J. L. Hordern's advertising boat was sailing near Port Macquarie, a rowing man had a capsize, but was rescued by the occupants of Mr. Hordern's boat.

We learn from the Argus of Tuesday that the Inconstant—the Rear-Admiral's ship—is moored half-way between Sandridge and Williamstown, and near her lies the Carysfort, whilst the Tourmaline is anchored close to the Sandridge railway pier. At 8 o'clock the Nelson saluted the squadron by firing 21 guns, and the French warship Finisterre paid them a similar compliment. These salutes were responded to by the flagship. The Hon. W. J. Clarke, M.L.C., president of the Melbourne International Exhibition, and his Worship the Mayor of Melbourne paid a semi-official visit to the squadron at noon, for the purpose of arranging for the attendance of the admiral and officers at the Exhibition and Town Hall balls to be given in their honour within the next fortnight. On boarding they were introduced to Rear-Admiral the Earl of Clanwilliam. Mr. Clarke briefly stated the object of the visit, and expressed a hope that the stay of the squadron would be prolonged, in order to admit of the attendance of his lordship and officers at the various festivities which were in process of arrangement. His Worship the Mayor, on behalf of the citizens of Melbourne, warmly welcomed the Admiral and all officers of the fleet to the city, and reiterated the hope that they would make a longer stay than was contemplated. His lordship thanked the party for their kind expressions of welcome, but intimated that the accident which had happened to the Bacchante prevented him from entering into any definite arrangements until fuller information had arrived. He was at the end of a telegraph wire, and it was impossible to say how far his movements would be controlled thereby. He thought, however, that both himself and his officers would have the pleasure of availing themselves of the invitations which they had received for the 1st of June (the Exhibition hall), and also for the ball to be given by the Mayor, in the Town Hall, eight or nine days subsequently. After leaving the Inconstant, the party visited the Carysfort and Tourmaline, where they were hospitably entertained.

The unfortunate man, M'Carthy (the Wagga Advertiser states), who was admitted into the hospital on Saturday evening, the 14th instant, suffering from a compound fracture of the legs, died in the hospital on Sunday evening last. He was married last week, while in the hospital, to the young woman he has been engaged to for some time past. M'Carthy has been very unfortunate in his occupation as a navvy. At Hanging Rock he met with a mishap whereby his foot was hurt. On another occasion he had two of his fingers cut off.

The census returns for Tasmania (observes the Hobart Mercury) show the population in 1881 to be—Males, 61,133; females, 54,518: total, 115,651, as against, in 1870—Males, 52,853; females, 46,475: total, 99,328, being an increase of 16,323 in 11 years. According to the books of the registrar's office, there were registered during the 11 years, from 1870 to 1880 inclusive, the following number of births:—Males, 18,224; females, 17,311: total, 35,535. During the same period the number of deaths registered was—Males, 10,951; females, 7512: total, 18,463. Deducting the 18,463 deaths from the 35,535 births, there is a gain by excess of births over deaths of 17,072. But the total increase of population during the 11 years was, according to the census returns, only 16,323. So that, if the figures are correct, the census shows 749 fewer persons in the colony than the natural increase by excess of births over deaths would have yielded. Turning then to the tables which profess to show the arrivals and departures during the same period, it would appear from them that during the 11 years in question there was an actual loss to the colony by the excess of departures over arrivals of 1365 persons.

We have files of the New Zealand Herald to May 18. The Lyttelton Times insists that the rest of the Maori prisoners ought to be released for the sake of justice. It says, alluding to the release of the last batch: "Whatever the cause, Ministers have done the right thing. We hope that soon they will do as much more of it as is necessary to liberate the whole of the prisoners. The last batch behaved well. On going away they were addressed by one of the chiefs—who by the council of three were thought too dangerous to be cast loose—in words of peaceful import and sensible advice. We do not know what evidence Mr. Rolleston, Mr. Parris, and Mr. Pihama relied on, but it seems as if there is not a pin to choose between the men liberated and those still detained. That public opinion will at this time be sufficiently fair, we will not say generous, to require the immediate release of the latter, we have no doubt. To keep them in custody is really not creditable to either our courage or our justice as a people."—A destructive fire occurred at Matakana, at the store and residence of Mr. D. M. Darroch, Upper Matakana. It was totally destroyed on Saturday night. There was £300 insurance in the Imperial office on the place—viz. £90 on the building, and £210 on the stock and furniture.—Fisher's coal and wood shed, formerly Fisher and Crooks, of Wellington, was destroyed by fire at 10 o'clock this evening.—Alluding to the Tararua disaster in a sermon, the Rev. Mr. Sidey, of Napier, recognized it as a judgment of Heaven, and said by overwork the company had lowered the morale of their men. The company also manifested supreme contempt for the bearing of divine law and moral well-being of some of the communities with whom their trade brings them in contact in their treatment of the Sabbath. To this there has scarcely been a matter of protest on the part of those communities whom they afflicted. They had been left to pursue their own way, regardless of any claim of heaven or earth. The almighty dollar has been the one grand consideration in all their arrangements.—A company, launched with a capital of £15,000, to work the Waitahuna copper mine, has met with favour, and shares are being rapidly taken up.

The Dunedin correspondent of the New Zealand Herald states that the volunteers from Invercargill who went to Waipapa to aid in the recovery of the dead bodies from the s. s. Tararua give a graphic account of the hardships of the work. The policemen had to sleep in wet clothes for days, and to run about in bags whilst their clothes were drying. The odour from the dead bodies sweltering in the sun was perceptible a quarter of a mile off. They also make serious complaints against Mr. Stewart, the representative of the Union Company at the wreck. The total number of lives lost has been ascertained to amount to 132. On the 13th May six bodies were recovered; that of John Barry was recognized by a pocket-book, containing a bank draft of £80. One body, having on the remains of blue serge trousers and vest, with buttons of Union Steam Shipping Co., and an open-face gold watch, and an old locket with two hands clasped underneath the words "Yours for ever," is supposed to be that of the chief engineer, Munro. Also the bodies of W. R. Wilson and Roderick Walsh were identified by papers found upon them. No papers were on either of the other two bodies, nor anything which could lead to their identification. Up to the present 64 bodies have been recovered. Mr. Pym sold by auction the wreck of the Tararua as it now lies at Otara reef. There was little or no bidding. The wreck, together with all gear or fittings belonging to the vessel, subject to the right of the owners of the vessel or cargo to labour for the recovery of the cargo or any portion thereof, was knocked down to Mr. James Mills, of the Union Company, for £20. One boat lying on the beach near the wreck was sold to Messrs. Nimmo and Blair for £7 10s. One boat at Port Chalmers, to Mr. Mills, for £15. It was stated at the sale that the Government intended to send down divers to recover the old silver in the vessel.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

In the Legislative Council to-day, the second reading of the Land Tax Amendment Bill was moved. It was strongly opposed, and a petition was read, signed by 1800 small and large landowners, against it. The debate was adjourned till Tuesday next.

In the Assembly, Mr. Gaunson moved the adjournment of the House, to bring under notice a complaint that the £250 paid by Messrs. Brinsmead for evading duty had been extorted from them by threats of the Customs officers. The statement was denied and the subject dropped. A long discussion then arose as to striking off all private business from the paper, owing to the end of the session, and matters could not be dealt with. Mr. Mirams spoke at length on the Reform question, and said if the Government would pledge themselves to stand by their amendments in the bill, they might count on him as an ardent supporter; but having no such assurance he proceeded to quote the speeches of Mr. Berry and Mr. Vale with a view of showing that they had departed from their pledges. Mr. Berry, in reply, accused Mr. Mirams of insincerity, because he had championed every one of the proceedings he now denounced as errors. There was nothing more contemptible, he said, for a member who had attended every caucus to rehash every objection. It was because of such members as Mr. Mirams that they could not dictate terms, as they could not depend upon their majority. Mr. Wrixon made a good speech in favour of accepting the Council's amendments, and the debate was then adjourned.

The agricultural statistics show the area of cultivated land in the colony to be 1,733,542 acres, being an increase of 275,446 acres; the total produce was 8,606,510 bushels, being a decrease of 5,654,454; the average yield was 4 bushels 58 lbs., as against 9 bushels 47 lbs. last season. The low yield is ascribed to the ravages of rust.

The Wesleyan Conference resolved to open subscription lists in each colony on behalf of the families of the ministers lost in the Tararua. The next General Conference will be held at Christchurch, New Zealand, in November, 1884. A Constitution for the Friendly Islands District was agreed upon.

THE COMET.

Since the publication of the telegram, the other day, from Mr. John Tebbutt, of Windsor, respecting his discovery of a comet, many eyes have been turned in the direction in which the stranger was said to be discernible.

Regarding the comet, Mr. H. C. Russell, Government Astronomer, sent us the following communication yesterday, from the Observatory:—"Tuesday evening proved very cloudy at Sydney; but we were more fortunate this evening, the sky being clear, and, but for some haze and smoke to the west, all the circumstances were favourable for observing the comet. It is an object quite conspicuous to the naked eye, and it can be very well seen with a binocular glass. The nucleus is condensed bright, and almost star-like; thence the tail may be traced fully 12 degrees; but the smoky haze before mentioned prevented me from seeing how long it was. The rough determination of position places it in Right Ascension 4 h. 49 m. 46 s.; and S. declination 34 degrees 13½ minutes. Examined with the large equatoria the nucleus presents a bright, nearly round condensation, in front of which is a sort of half halo, something like the drawings of the comet of 1858, but the state of the atmosphere prevented me from seeing the details which the telescope should have revealed. Comparing Mr. Tebbutt's observations on the 23rd with the above, it appears that the comet is slightly increasing its right ascension and moving northwards at the rate of about half a degree per day. P.S.—It seems unnecessary to give directions for finding it, for in a fine sky it cannot be overlooked in the south-west."

Mr. John Tebbutt, of the Private Observatory, Windsor, writes as follows, under date May 23:—"Sir,—I announced to you this morning by telegraph that I discovered on the previous evening a comet between the constellations Columba and Eridanus. Combined with the light of the two stars designate in the catalogues as Gamma Cœli it appeared to the unassisted eye as a hazy patch, but without a tail. In the telescope, however, the tail could be distinctly seen. I was informed that a relative of mine, residing near Bungonia, had seen what she thought to be a comet in the southern sky, about 3 o'clock on the morning of Sunday, the 15th instant; but in the absence of any particulars respecting the observation, and from our ignorance respecting the orbit of the stranger, it is at present impossible to say if the two objects are identical. It is a remarkable circumstance that the date of discovery here is only nine days later than the anniversary of the discovery of the great comet of 1861, and that the present comet was found only about fifteen degrees east of the position of the great comet just mentioned. I fortunately obtained a good series of comparisons with the equatorial, giving for the present the rough position R.A., 4 h. 58 m. declin. 35½ degrees S. Information has been communicated to the Sydney Observatory, and also telegraphed to Melbourne."

The Argus thus refers to the comet, as seen from Melbourne:—"From information supplied by Mr. Tebbutt, of Windsor, N.S.W., the comet was readily found soon after sunset, and measures of its position obtained. It was readily seen with the naked eye (but better with a binocular) in the S.W. sky, at an altitude of 20 deg. at 7 o'clock, and would set about 10 minutes past 9. The nucleus was quite bright and stellar, and the tail—which was narrow and well defined, but somewhat faint—could be traced for 15 or 20 degrees. The nucleus itself was in the constellation Cœli Sculptoris, and the tail extended into the constellation Columba, inclining towards the South Pole. Its approximate position was found to be R.A., 4 hours 59 minutes, declination 35 degrees 14 minutes south, and moving northwards. Of course, no opinion as to whether it is one of the known comets or a new one can yet be ventured upon. From its southern declination it will rise two hours before the sun in the morning."

The Late Czar and the Serfs.—The Times says:—"The idea of freeing 20 millions of peasants from the arbitrary rule of irresponsible masters, many of whom were unworthy to possess authority of any kind, was thoroughly in accordance with his humane, generous instincts, and instances of cruelty and misrule which were officially reported to him or accidentally came to his knowledge made him impatient to see the evil swept away. There were, however, serious difficulties in the way. Alexander II. had very little of the requisite special knowledge, and had to restrict himself to choosing between the measures recommended to him. It was universally admitted that the peasants should not be ejected from their homes, though their homesteads belonged legally to the proprietors; but there was great diversity of opinion as to how much land they should in future enjoy, by what tenure they should in future hold it, and how the patriarchal, undefined authority of the landlords should be replaced. The main point at issue was whether the serfs should become agricultural labourers dependent economically and administratively on the landlords, or should be transformed into a class of independent communal proprietors. The Emperor gave his support to the latter proposal, and the Russian peasantry acquired privileges such as are enjoyed by no other peasantry in Europe. There still remained a host of minor questions, all of which were submitted for Imperial decision. His Majesty examined each of them separately and carefully, and never decided without consulting both parties. On March 3, 1861, the law received the Imperial signature, and during the next two years its numerous provisions were put into execution by landed proprietors named by the Government."

Next Saturday we shall sell land, in building plots, in the Eastern and Western suburbs, as follows:—Bondi, the Queenscliff Estate, in allotments; worth buying for building, for holding, or for speculative purposes, as the land is certain to double in value during the coming twelve months; communication by tramway. Petersham, the Sea View Estate, 77 lots to choose from; communication by train. Both properties command splendid water and land views. Torrens' title, easy terms; free tram and train tickets. Hardie and Gorman auctioneers.—Adv.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

LONDON, APRIL 22.

After an illness of three weeks, marked by many fluctuations, Lord Beaconsfield's condition finally changed seriously for the worse on the evening of the 18th, and death ensued at half-past 4 on the morning of the 19th. The death of the noble Earl occurred on the anniversary day of his resignation of the premiership at Windsor last year. Lord Beaconsfield passed away so peaceably that the moment of death could scarcely be observed. Lord Rowton, who was at first detained for some days by his sister's illness, at Marseilles, could not start for London till the first week in April, and arrived on the 7th, but was not allowed to see Lord Beaconsfield until the 11th. Lords Rowton and Barrington held the right hand of the dying statesman, and continued clasping it until he was no more. About a quarter of an hour before death, Lord Beaconsfield rose up from a sitting posture in bed, and stretched himself out in the way in which he used to do when rising to reply in debate. His lips moved, but no sound was heard. Those around the bed were deeply moved, and restrained their tears with difficulty. Some of the servants did weep as they saw their master, to whom they were greatly attached, passing away. The official bulletin said that Lord Beaconsfield died calmly as if in a sleep. Two days after death hardly any alteration was perceptible in the face, which had not changed from its complexion usual in life to the pallor of death. The hair remained black only a few streaks of grey being visible. There was no expression of pain in the face, and the deceased looked many years younger than in the latter days of his life. A smile played about the mouth, the eyes were closed, and the whole face wore the expression of a placid and happy sleep. Some days before his decease the Queen expressed a particular wish to visit the patient; but his physicians, fearing the agitating effect it would probably have upon him, begged her Majesty not to carry out her desire. An intense universal interest was manifested throughout his Lordship's illness. A mass of communications was daily received at his residence in Anzon-street. The physicians ordered every form of nourishment, and restoratives and remedies were sent from all parts of Great Britain and Europe. Many touching letters were even received from little children, hoping his Lordship would recover. Mr. Gladstone telegraphed from Hawarden to Rowton, offering a public funeral, but the executors—Sir Nathaniel Rothschild, and Sir Philip Rose—replied that the terms of the Earl of Beaconsfield's will precluded them from accepting the honour. The Earl, before he died, expressed a desire to be buried in the vault at Hughenden churchyard, near the remains of his wife, and directed that the funeral should be as simple as hers was, without paraphernalia or parade of any kind. The funeral took place at Hughenden on the 26th. The event created an immense sensation throughout Europe. The Continental and foreign Press for the most part expressed deep regret, and fully deplored the loss. Only in a few cases, and these mostly in the Russian Press, or a few Radical foreign papers, were the career and work of the deceased Statesman reviewed in a hostile or sneering spirit.

The Irish Land Bill has been discussed in the Press and in public meetings, both in England and Ireland. There are signs of a split in the Irish party on the subject. Mr. Parnell is disposed to accept it. Mr. Dillon proclaimed it worthless. The chief objections raised by the Tories and Whigs are—first, that the measure provides no compensation for landlords, whose property it seriously diminishes; secondly, that the powers which it is intended to repose in the new Land Court are injudicious and dangerously great; thirdly, it is anticipated that the measure will cause an immense amount of litigation between the owner and occupier of the soil.

The Duke of Argyll, in explaining to the House of Lords why he resigned the post of Lord Privy Seal, said the Irish Land Bill was open to attack on the rights of ownership.

Lord Carlingford, who succeeded the Duke of Argyll, largely assisted in the elaboration of the Land Bill of 1870. The rejection of the present bill by the Lords is considered certain, in which case an autumn session of Parliament is probable, in order to again pass the bill and again send it to the Lords.

The Irish Land League Convention, numbering 1000 delegates, assembled at the Dublin Rotunda, yesterday, when a resolution was adopted, calling on the Government to liberate Michael Davitt. The speeches delivered were generally adverse to the measure, unless largely amended in the tenants' interests. The Land League principles were explained to be the sweeping away of the present land laws, the expropriation of bad landlords, coupled with a voluntary system of State aid for the purpose, by mutual arrangement between landlord and tenant.

The Turco-Greek question is still critical. The reply of Greece to the collective note of the Powers states that, while accepting the territory offered, it does not relinquish the claim to the full measure of the Berlin award, which it declares it cannot abandon. The reply of the Powers to this note simply takes cognizance of Greece's acceptance of the Turkish proposals, and ignores reference to the Epirus and to the other unsatisfied demands. This will not satisfy the Greek Government, and a dangerous ferment is again rising. If Coumoundous simply accepts the Turkish proposal without obtaining a guarantee from the Powers respecting the Epirotes, his Ministry will certainly be overturned. The Powers, however, are unwilling to give any such undertaking, or even guarantee the cession of territory offered by Turkey.

A sanguinary engagement was fought on Saturday, between seventeen battalions under Dervish Pasha and the forces of the Albanian League. The latter attempted to stop Dervish Pasha's forward movement, and after several hours' fighting between Pristina and Prisvend, Dervish defeated the Albanian troops, and continued his march. He has, nevertheless, sent an urgent request for large reinforcements. Communications between Salonica and Skutari are interrupted.

A French expeditionary corps arrived at Roumesok, on Tunisian territory. The Kroumirs were in strong force in the neighbouring mountains, but under present orders from the Bey they will retire before the French advance. The Tunisian troops are advancing to the frontier. The Bey protests against the French invasion, and the relations between him and the French are daily becoming more embittered. Italy is jealously watching the French proceedings. She acknowledges the right of France to punish the Kroumirs; but any scheme of French protectorate of Tunis will create an irreparable, though not for the moment an open, breach between the two countries.

BOMBAY, MAY 6.

The territory of Southern Afghanistan, to be left in the occupation of the Ameer, is now in the hands of his representatives, General Hume having withdrawn the last of his forces to Chaman. Eighteen guns, and a quantity of rifles, presented by the Government to the Ameer, have been sent to Candahar. Already ruptures have occurred between the inhabitants of Candahar and the Ameer's forces, the former refusing supplies without payment. Reports still continue contradictory respecting Ayoub Khan's position and movements at Herat. The last intelligence states that he has lost confidence in the Herat troops, all of which are being disarmed and disbanded. The Kahiedahar regiments at Herat, nominally three, are described as being very weak in numbers. All information, however, is regarded as very unreliable, although the Wazirs have submitted. The British expedition has been ordered to march through the country as a display of force.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

PARRAMATTA JOCKEY CLUB RACES.

Patron: The Right Honorable Lord Augustus Loftus, G.C.B. President: Mr. Hugh Taylor, J.P. Judge: Mr. Edward Terry, J.P. Committee: Mr. W. H. Hillas, Mr. W. F. Burkitt, Mr. R. L. Dunn, Mr. M. Kinchela, Mr. E. J. Edrop. Starter: Mr. R. L. Dunn. Clerk of the Scales: Mr. M. Kinchela. Clerk of the Course: Mr. J. Mannix. James J. Taylor, honorary secretary.

SECOND DAY.—WEDNESDAY, MAY 25.

The second day of the meeting was fairly attended, and the racing was particularly good. His Excellency the Governor was represented by Mr. Loftus; and a number of ladies honoured the proceedings with their presence. The refreshment and catering departments were ably managed by Mrs. M'Elhinnie, Mrs. Rafter, and Mr. Cripps; and the Cumberland Band enlivened the proceedings by discoursing a variety of selections. As on the first day, the general management was excellent, and the efforts of the starter and the clerk of the course are deserving of special mention. Cleon and Councillor declined for the Hurdle Race, for which Radical was backed at 5 to 4, and well ridden by Dogherty; he came when called upon, and won easily by a length and a half from Secret, on whom Champley used his whip with foolish freedom. Eleven went to the post for the Two and Three-year-old Handicap, the malcontents being Stilton and Sportsman. The race was a grand one all the way, and resulted in a fair dead heat between Kerolite and West Country Dick, and the former won the run off rather easily by a clear length. Fireball was most in favour for the Park Stakes, but Shaughraun out-stayed him and won comfortably by a couple of lengths. The winner was put up to auction and bought in for £33. Verdict, Lady Superior, The Dean and Thistle, were scratched for the Birthday Handicap, and at the last Zulu was most in favour at about 5 to 2. The favourite made all the running, and his excellent condition serving him, he stayed it out and won by about three lengths from Balthazar, who was attended by Lord Orville. Albion was a red-hot favourite for the Galloway Handicap, and getting off in front was never afterwards interfered with, and won very easily by three lengths. Lorton left the paddock first favourite for the Forced Handicap, but he could only get fourth, and Sunset won cleverly by nearly three lengths from Boniface. A match was then arranged between Albion and Isabella, and the former won easily.

The following is an account of each race:—

HANDICAP HURDLE RACE, of 50 sovs., with a sweep of 1 sov. each for starters; second horse 5 sovs. from the prize. 1¾ miles.

Mr. T. Shore's b g Radical, aged, 11st 2lbs (J. Dogherty) ... 1
J. J. Garland's b m Secret, aged, 8st 10lbs (Champley) ... 2
P. N. Bayly's c g The Hatter, 6 years, 9st 9lbs (Hunt) ... 3
W. Forrester's b g Wrangler, aged, 10st 5lbs (S. Harding) 0
J. H. Stanfield's b g Capon, 5 years, 8st 9lbs (Guckey) ... 0
C. T. Roberts' b g Sportsman, 3 years, 8 st 7 lbs (Phillips) 0

Betting: 5 to 4 v. Radical, 5 to 2 v. The Hatter, 4 to 1 bar two.

When they came from behind the hill Wrangler was at the front, but he came to grief at the fence near the stand, and The Hatter was left at the head of affairs, attended by Radical. The Hatter forced the pace until about half a mile from home, when Dogherty brought the favourite up, and won easily by a length and a half from Secret, who was punished with unnecessary severity. The Hatter was ten lengths away, and the others were beaten off.

THE TWO AND THREE-YEAR-OLD HANDICAP of 50 sovs., with a sweep of 1 sov. each for starters; second horse 5 sovs. from the prize. 6 furlongs.

Mr. C. T. Roberts' b c West Country Dick, 3 years, 6st 9lbs (Matthews) ... 1+
H. Herbert's ch f Kerolite, by Kelpie, 2 years, 6st (Kelso) 2+

M. Sheehan's b c Templar, 3 years, 9st (Owner) ... 0
W. Phipps' b m Stella, 3 years, 8st (Gordon) ... 0
S. Harding's b c Childers, 3 years, 8st (Forbes) ... 0

H. Mortimer's br f Wheel of Fortune, 2 years, 7st 2lbs (Gough) ... 0
G. R. Nichol's b m Florrie, 3 years, 6st 3lbs (Hayes) ... 0
T. Ivory's b f Attractive, 2 years, 5st 12lbs (Francis) ... 0
J. Levy's b f Maid of Australia, 2 years, 5st 10lbs (Mayo) 0

Betting: 2 to 1 v. Templar, 3 to 1 v. Childers, 4 to 1 v. Boniface, 6 to 1 v. any other.

Childers was quickest on his legs, but as soon as they got going, Boniface ran to the front and led down the hill, closely attended by West Country Dick, Childers, Sweet Chutney, and Stella, with the others on close terms. West Country Dick went to the front at the foot of the hill, and turned into the straight about a length in advance of Stella and Boniface, while Kerolite, on the outside, began to put in a dangerous claim. Kerolite caught her horses very fast in the run home, and catching West Country Dick on the post, made a dead heat of it, while Boniface finished a good third, and after him came Stella, Childers, and Sweet Chutney, with the others on fair terms, and whipped in by Attractive and Maid of Australia.

THE PARK STAKES of 20 sovs., with a sweep of 1 sov. each for starters; for all horses; eight for age; the winner to be sold by public auction immediately after the race for £20; 7lbs allowed for every reduction of £5 down to £5, and 28lbs allowed if to be sold for £1; any surplus to go to the funds of the Race Club. 1 mile.

Mr. A. E. Cornwell's bk g Shaughraun (late Nobody), £10, aged, 7st 11lbs (Cornwell) ... 1
C. Roberts' b h Fireball, £15, aged, 8st 7lbs (Colley) ... 2
J. Townsend's b g Fisherman, £20, aged, 8st 11lbs (F. Forbes) ... 3
S. Marshall's ch g Mazarin, £10, 4 years, 7st 11lbs (Champley) ... 0
W. Phipps' b g Doctor, £10, 5 years, 7st 11lbs (Gordon) ... 0

Betting: 6 to 4 v. Fireball, 3 to 1 v. Shaughraun, 5 to 1 bar two.

Shaughraun cut out the work from the jump, and won by two lengths from the favourite, two lengths from whom succeeded Fisherman. Doctor was fourth, four lengths off, and Mazarin a bad last.

THE BIRTHDAY HANDICAP of 75 sovs., with a sweep of 2 sovs. each for starters; second horse 10 sovs. from the prize. 1½ mile.

Mr. C. M'Donald's blk c Zulu, by Barbarian, 3 years, 7st 3lbs (Emsworth) ... 1
S. Harding's b h Balthazar, 4 years, 7st (Forbes) ... 2
W. Kelso's b h Lord Orville, 6 years, 7st 7lbs (Riley) ... 3
T. M'Fadden's b h Tattoo, 6 years, 8st 5lbs (M'Alister) ... 0
J. Miller's br g Macaroni, aged, 8st 10lbs (Gallagher) ... 0
C. T. Roberts' br h Jester, 4 years, 7st 4lbs (Matthews) ... 0
S. Harding's blk h Sunset (late Eacoona), 5 years, 6st 7lbs (F. Forbes) ... 0
A. E. Cornwell's blk h Retrospect, 4 years, 6st 4lbs (Gough) ... 0
E. Key's br h The Knave, 4 years, 5st 12lbs (Reid) ... 0

Betting: 5 to 2 v. Zulu, 3 to 1 v. Lord Orville, 4 to 1 each v. Tattoo and Macaroni, 6 to 1 v. any other.

Jester was first away, while Sunset, who had a man at his head, was left at the post. As soon as they settled into their places, Zulu assumed the command, and, making all the play, was never headed, and won comfortably by a length from Boniface. Lord Orville was two lengths away third, and after him came Macaroni, Jester, Sunset, The Knave, Retrospect, and Tattoo in order.

THE GALLOWAY HANDICAP, of 25 sovs., with a sweep of 1 sov. each for starters; for all Galloways not exceeding 14.2; second horse 3 sovs. from the prize. Once round (about seven furlongs).

Mr. J. J. Garland's b g Albion, aged, 7st 7lbs (Gainsworth) ... 1
C. Stantley's c f The Roe, 8 years, 6st 10lbs 2
W. Foulsham's b m Isabella, aged, 8st 7lbs (Cornwell) ... 4
M. Griffin's b g Cœur de Lion, 4 years, 8st 4lbs (Colley) ... 0
J. A. Griffiths' bk m Lady Chester, 4 years, 7st 10lb (Gordon) 0

Albion, who was the favourite at 6 to 4 on him, made all his own running, and won in a canter by three lengths.

THE FORCED HANDICAP of 30 sovs.; for all winners, optional to losers, winners of Galloway Races excepted; entrance, 5 per cent. deducted from winners; 30s. losers.

Mr. S. Harding's br b Sunset, 5 years, 7st. 7lbs. ... 1
W. Archer's br g Boniface, 3 years, 7st. ... 2
C. Rickett's b h Verdict, aged, 8st. 8lbs. ... 3

Sweet Chutney, 7st. 10lbs.; Lorton, 7st. 3lbs.; Needle, 7st.; Barmaid, 6st. 12lbs.; Shaughraun, 6st. 10lbs.; Margaret, 6st. 7lbs.; and Dutchman, 6st., also ran.

Betting: 2 to 1 v. Lorton, 3 to 1 v. Sunset, 4 to 1 each v. Shaughraun and Boniface, 6 to 1 v. any other.

Boniface led till entering the straight, when Sunset challenged him, and, cutting him down, defeated him by three lengths. Verdict was three lengths from Boniface, and after him came Lorton, Needle, and Margaret on close terms.

SPORTS AT BLAYNEY.

BLAYNEY, WEDNESDAY.

Yesterday was observed as a close holiday here. The chief amusements of the day were the athletic sports, for the performance of which the weather was most unpropitious, being very cold and cloudy. However, the principal events on the programme were got through with the following results:—Maiden Plate, 150 yards: J. Creer, Orange, 1; F. Oatley, Carcoar, 2. Grand Handicap, 150 and 200 yards, first prize £3, second £3, third £1: Won by Oatley, Martin second, and Eagles, third. Hop, Step, and Jump: Winner, W. D. Cheshire, 40 feet 10 inches. The Carcoar Brass Band enlivened the proceedings considerably; there was a good attendance of visitors from Carcoar, Orange, Bathurst, and other parts.

GRAFTON REGATTA.

GRAFTON, WEDNESDAY.

The regatta yesterday was the most successful gathering ever held at Grafton, and the whole of the programme was got through in the advertised time. Laycock did not start in the handicap skiff race, neither did he and Messenger start for the double sculls. The former published a most injudicious letter on the morning of the regatta attacking the committee and charging them with feelings of spite towards him.

There were fully 6000 people in Grafton, and at night the Theatre Royal, the new Protestant Hall, and Ashton's Circus, were all crowded.

The settling on the regatta takes place to-night. The committee expect a surplus of £10 for the regatta next year.

A deposit of £50 aside was made here on Monday night in the proposed match for £200 aside between Rush and Laycock.

When the card was read over there was not much betting, as the layers were not disposed to lay long odds. The betting for the Intercolonial was:—100 to 15 against Rosy Fawn (taken); 100 to 15 against Fairy Belle (offered); 100 to 12 against Locket (offered); 100 to 7 against Hamish (offered); 100 to 10 against Terror (taken); 50 to 5 against Lelex (taken); 100 to 20 against Styx or Bashful Maid (offered); 100 to 15 against Romeo (offered); 100 to 10 against Hopbine and Hopmarket (wanted); 50 to 20 Victoria v. N. S. Wales (taken). On single courses the following bets were made:—St. Leger: 20 to 10 Fast Times v. Hebe; 6 to 4 and 5 to 4 Bargo v. Telemachus; 10 to 5 Teddington v. Longlegs. Intercolonial Stake: 20 to 10 Rosy Fawn v. Lancashire Lass; 20 to 5 Fairy Bell v. Locket; 50 to 10 Bashful Maid v. Romeo; even and 6 to 4 Hopbine v. Ginevra; 30 to 20 Terror v. Daphne 2nd; 12 to 10 Daphne 2nd v. Terror; even Lelex v. Fair Wanderer; 10 to 8 Fair Wanderer v. Lelex; 12 to 10 Hopmarket v. Maid of Athens. So far as could be seen in the room, Bashful Maid, Hopmarket, and Hopbine were most fancied for the big event; but no owners appeared so disposed to back their dogs at a fair price as Messrs. Fanning, Weir, and M'Culloch.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

After the review on the 24th instant, an interesting match took place between 10 men selected from Nos. 1 and 2 Companies of the Naval Brigade, and 10 men from the Engineer and Torpedo Companies; 5 men from each company. The conditions agreed upon were similar to the association conditions for team matches: 10 shots each at 500 and 600 yards. Mr. West acted as umpire, but his duties were very light; no disputes whatever arising. The match resulted in a victory for the Naval Brigade team by 34 points; one of their men not turning up, the lowest score on their side was counted in to complete the total. Subjoined are the respective scores:—

CRICKET.

The Woollahra Volunteer Fire Brigade celebrated the Queen's Birthday by a cricket match on Moore Park with the Sutton Forest Cricket Club. The match resulted in a win for the W. V. F. Brigade C. C. with seventeen runs to spare. The Sutton Forest Club made 57 runs, the W. V. F. Brigade 74. The bowling of A. Pitt and S. Smith was very effective for the Woollahra men. They retired home to their station, where host Halstenberg had provided a dinner. After they had satisfied the inner man, the health of the Queen was proposed with the usual honours, also a toast to the visitors and the ladies. After spending a happy meeting, a vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. Superintendent, J. Brignell, and the meeting terminated.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

"The Upper Crust," as played at the Theatre Royal, improves with each performance; and Mr. Stewart, Mr. Cates, Mrs. Stammers, Mr. Titheradge, Miss Taylor, Miss Santon, and Mr. Garner must feel gratified at the readiness with which every point made is received by those in front of the curtain.

GAIETY THEATRE.

"Il Trovatore" was repeated at the Gaiety Theatre last night to a large and most appreciative audience. Miss Montague, Mr. Turner, Miss St. Clair, and Mr. Farley were all called before the curtain, and they deserved the compliment thus paid them. Miss Montague and Mr. Turner were, as usual, in grand voice; and rarely has Mr. Farley equalled the style in which he sang. Miss St. Clair has almost recovered from her cold, and so thoroughly has she learned to manage her voice, and with such fire and intelligence does she act the part of Azucena, that we are justified in expecting much more from her than she has yet achieved. To-night "Martha" will be played for the last time.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphed last night:—"All the places of amusement on Tuesday night were largely attended. The 'Pirates of Penzance' was a great success at the Opera House; Miss Christian's concert at the Town Hall was thronged. Only 3500 persons attended the Exhibition concert."

SYDNEY MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.

A fortnightly meeting of the Sydney Municipal Council was held at the Town Hall, yesterday, when the Mayor presided, and nearly all the aldermen were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

PETITIONS.

Petitions were presented by Alderman WITHERS, for kerbing and guttering in Belmore-street and Wilton-place; by Alderman BEARE, for a watermain in Sutherland-street; by Alderman KIPPAX, for a lamp and some kerbing and guttering in Elizabeth-street; by Alderman PALMER, for a lamp in Kent-street; and by Alderman PLAYFAIR, for a causeway from North Shore ferry house to Castlereagh-street.

THE CHINESE INFLUX.

Alderman J. D. YOUNG drew attention to the large numbers of Chinese landing here, and said they were living together in northern parts of the city in such a manner as to jeopardise the general health.

The MAYOR promised to instruct the City Health Officer and the Inspector of Nuisances to visit the locality, with the view of taking measures against the spread of disease there.

CIRCULAR QUAY.

Alderman DEAN drew attention to want of repairs to the roadway round Circular Quay, and he suggested that the Government should be requested to attend to them.

The MAYOR said he would cause a letter to be addressed to the Government on the matter.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A circular from North Willoughby Council was read, which was to the effect that a resolution had been passed by them offering to co-operate with the city and suburban councils towards getting a measure passed to prevent dwelling-houses being erected in lanes, and to cause roads to be made at least a chain wide.

A communication from the German Commissioner to the Melbourne Exhibition was read, forwarding three works, printed in the German language, entitled respectively, "Berlin and Its Edifices," "A Map of Berlin," and "Statistical Year Book of Berlin."

The Council resolved to return their thanks for them.

A letter from the Gas Company was read, which stated that the prices of 80-candle burner lamps had been reduced from £35 to £30, and 200-candle burner lamps from £60 to £50.

THE CATTLE SALE-YARDS.

The MAYOR brought up minutes which stated that he had had the land resumed for cattle sale-yards valued, and made an offer of £4620 to the owners for it; that he had made arrangements whereby the Government had promised to introduce a bill to authorise the Council to raise a further sum of £35,000 to complete the yards; that the Union Bank, in consequence of the promise, agreed to make advances towards the work; that he had accepted the contract of Topham, Angus, and Co., amounting to £63,740, for the work; and that the work had been commenced, and would be supervised by Corporation officers.

The motion was agreed to.

Alderman PALMER moved,—"That a return be furnished to the Council of all sewers laid from 1st January, 1874, to the present time, stating where laid, when passed by Council, by whom moved, the cost of same; also showing those ordered by Council, and not carried out, and whether in progress or otherwise."

The motion was agreed to.

USE OF WOODEN CUBES IN GEORGE-STREET.

Alderman HARDIE moved,—"That the recommendation of the City Surveyor that wooden cubes be used in lieu of blue stone for pitching George-street, between Market and Park streets (as recommended by the Improvement Committee) be adopted."

Alderman CARTER opposed the motion on the ground that it had been proved and the City Surveyor had admitted in his writings that wooden cubes were not so good as those of asphalte, stone, and other material, because they absorbed the filth of the streets.

The motion was carried by a large majority.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Alderman HARDIE moved,—"That the application of the Agricultural Society of New South Wales for permission to occupy 25 acres of ground, Moore Park, as shown upon plan submitted, on which to hold their annual shows be granted, by paying a yearly rental of £10 and under certain other conditions."

PAYMENT FOR SETTING BACK PROPERTY.

Alderman PALMER moved,—"That the sum of £500 be paid to Mr. Henry Hicks to set back to the proper alignment the frontage of buildings in Market-street, between York and Clarence streets."

Alderman PLAYFAIR did not approve of this kind of motion, but a precedent having been affirmed, he would vote for any brought forward.

The motion was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF AN ARTICLED CLERK.

Alderman LEES, for Alderman Chapman, moved,—"That an articled pupil for a term of five years be appointed for the City Architect's department, at a salary of £20, £40, £60, £80, and £100 per annum."

GAS LAMPS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I wish to inform your correspondent, who complains of the inadequate light at the crossing from Hyde Park to Boomerang Road, that about three months ago I moved for, and obtained, an "80-candle power burner" to be placed there. About one month afterwards a letter from the Gaslight Company was read, stating that they had not one in stock, but expected to be able to provide one in about another month, when the order would be executed. Now two months have elapsed, and it is not there yet. I suppose it will come some day.

Since I have been in the Council every lamp that has been moved for, whether on petition or the application of the Aldermen, has been granted most readily, the due fulfilment of contracts for public lighting afterwards resting with the Gaslight Company. I am, &c.,

SAML. E. LEES.

From Miss West, requesting that the footpath in front of her property on New Cook's River Road may be asphalted, and offering to contribute the usual cost. Resolved, on the motion of Alderman Barrell, seconded by Alderman Cubitt, that the request be complied with. The overseer submitted his usual fortnightly report. The chairman (Alderman Barrell) brought up a report from the Committee of Works, with reference to a letter from Mr. Couldrey, and also with reference to the asphalting. It was decided to invite fresh tenders for the asphalting the footpaths. Lighting Committee report: A report was adopted on the motion of Alderman Cubitt, seconded by Alderman Gelding, recommending the erection of additional lamps in South Kingston Ward—one at the corner of Malton Crescent and Merton street, and one on Stanmore Road, near Clarke's store, and one in Annandale Ward at the corner of Charles and Yule streets. The chairman brought up a report recommending the payment of sundry accounts, which was adopted, on the motion of Alderman Barrell, seconded by Alderman Gelding. The Council-clerk brought under the notice of the Council the fact that very few persons complied with the by-law in reference to the erection of new buildings, although a large number of buildings were in course of erection. By-law No. 24, "No person shall be permitted to erect any fence, house, shop, or other building in any street, lane, or place in the said borough without first serving notice, in writing, to the Mayor or Council-clerk, stating such intention and describing the proposed situation of the building or erection, and without having received any authority from the Mayor or Council-clerk, who shall give or cause to be given, the required level and alignment on the payment of a fee of 5s." It was decided that the inspector should be instructed to take proceedings against any person found not complying with the provisions of the by-law. Resolved, on the motion of Alderman Cubitt, seconded by Alderman Pile,—"That a deputation wait upon the Minister for Works to urge upon him the desirability of having a high-level bridge for general traffic erected across the railway line near the New Cook's River Road." Resolved, on the motion of Alderman Pile, seconded by Alderman Hughes,—"That the footpath on the east side of Palace-street, from Terminus-street to Norwood-street, be put in order at a probable cost of £6." Resolved, on the motion of Alderman Barrell, seconded by Alderman Hughes,—"That in view of the large number of gas lamps now erected within the borough, application be made to the Gas Company asking them to reduce the price of each lamp, as in other boroughs."—AUBREY MOULE, Council-clerk.

CENSUS REFLECTIONS.

The population returns, so far as we have them, show that in New South Wales 29 per cent. of the people live in Sydney, while 33 per cent. in Victoria live; in Melbourne, the first bearing a proportion to the whole of nearly one-third, while the last is a full third.

Whether, in young countries like these, it is a wholesome policy that keeps so large a proportion of the inhabitants clustered at the capital, is a question that might be very reasonably raised in both colonies.

In the ten years, the net increase of our colony is double that of our neighbours, being in round numbers 236,000.

The recasting of our electoral districts prevents any accurate analysis of this increase in respect to its distribution; but we may make a rough guess at the general result by dividing the colony as follows, using figures extracted from the published returns representing the two decades:—

Districts.	1871.	1881.	Increase.
Metropolitan	140,167	223,744	83,577
Old settled	239,498	275,862	36,364
Outside	124,326	241,284	116,958
	503,981	740,890	236,909

From these figures we learn first, that more than one-third of the increase of the whole colony has taken place in Sydney.

Next, we observe that 500,000 out of our 740,000 live within that small area round the metropolis called "The Settled Districts," extending within 150 miles of Port Jackson; and that the other one-third of our colonists are scattered over the 280,000 remaining square miles "outside the boundary," as it used to be called.

A certain proof of advance in the right direction is indeed to be recognized in the fact that half of the whole increase has been within this large area "outside;" but still there is reason for remark at the small proportion of settlement within a tract that contains nine-tenths of the superficial area of New South Wales.

We naturally look to this "outside" country as the field in which the working of current legislation will be exhibited, as the "Old Settled Districts"—the country "inside"—were mainly colonized under a long-abandoned system that was in use before either squatting or selection came into existence.

It would be interesting and instructive to learn, then, something about these 240,000 people "outside"—where they live, and what they do. How many of them are engaged on squatting stations? How many live in such towns and villages as Armidale, Albury, Forbes, and Young? How many are doing the Government stroke and receiving Government money in other forms? How many are working miners? How many more are miners of the other sort, who shepherd real miners and take out leases drawn up so as to fit in anywhere? And how many of such hope to turn solid ore out of these leases with the aid of political and departmental hanky-panky? Also, how many are dummies and land-sharks? How many are pen-and-ink selectors, sham agriculturists? And how many are gigantic squatters stuffed with straw and parchment? Lastly, how many of the residuum are real bona-fide settlers, tillers of the soil, keepers of sheep and cattle, actual working colonists?

We cannot expect to get much of this kind of information from a census; but the more detail we get the better. An extremely meagre classification would be certain to mislead in a manner that might be avoided by adopting a wider range of analysis. For instance, I saw lately a form which was to be filled up according to the rule that all men engaged in any way on the "land" were to be classed as "farmers," and all concerned in "mines" were to be called "miners."

Now, surely it would be absurd to call an overseer on a sheep station "a farmer," and it would be more ridiculous to call a dealer in "scrip" "a miner."

CAPRICORNUS.

THE FEMALE EMIGRATION SOCIETY.

We learn from the European Mail that a drawing-room in aid of the funds of the British Ladies' Female Emigration Society was held on March 31st at the residence of Mrs. Edward Henry Chapman, 36, Lancaster Gate, W., the Rev. W. Boyd Carpenter in the chair. About 150 persons were present, among whom were Countess Devon, Lord and Lady Kinnaird, Lady Kinsale, the Hon. Miss de Courcy, Lady V. Buxton, Lady Emily Pepys, the Right Hon. Mrs. Bouverie, Lady Macarthur, Lady Hill, Lady Stuart Hogg, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Seymour, Lady Napier, Sir Arthur Blyth, K.C.M.G. (Agent-General for South Australia), Bishop Perry, General Scott, the Rev. Mr. Beresford, Miss Emily Faithfull, Mr. Cawler, and Miss Tipple (secretary). The society was established in March, 1848, for providing matrons, books and employment for emigrants during their voyage. Its specific objects are:—To protect female emigrants from the moral dangers incident to a long voyage, and to relieve the weariness of their life on ship board by furnishing them with useful employment; to procure for them the protection and advice which they may be in need of on arrival at their destination; the visitation of emigrant ships at the various ports of departure by the secretary and other ladies, who form the females into industrial classes, make arrangements for their instruction, and supply them with materials for their employment during their voyage; the selection of judicious and efficient matrons for the superintendence of the young women on the voyage; the formation of corresponding societies in the colonies, for their protection and assistance on their arrival. The proceedings having been commenced with prayer by Bishop Perry, Mrs. Chapman explained the circumstances which led to the origin of the organization, and sketched its purposes and aims. The speaker stated that while staying in Plymouth in 1848, when the emigration movement was in its infancy, she went on board an emigrant vessel, and the scene she then witnessed led her at once to endeavour to do something for the improvement of the condition of female emigrants, the result of which was the formation of this society. She then gave an interesting account of the work of the society from its commencement until the present time, giving instances of the great amount of good which had been accomplished, and concluded by making a warm and earnest appeal for sympathy and support, so that the work might be carried on effectively. Sir Arthur Blyth then gave a short address upon the value of "permanent matrons" and the usefulness of the society. He mentioned that the duty of a matron was to find employment for the emigrants, and to do all in her power to make the voyage a pleasant one. He had great pleasure in testifying to the usefulness of the society, and he was glad of this opportunity of expressing his obligations to the committee for the assistance which had been rendered to him in his official capacity. Miss Emily Faithfull bore testimony to the highly useful labours of the society, as they bore especially upon the subject in which she had long taken a deep interest—the employment of women. It was doing a really good work in a quiet unostentatious way, of which she was frequently having proofs. The Hon. A. Macalister, C.M.G., Agent-General for Queensland, had been announced as one of the speakers, but, being unable to be present, sent a letter, expressing his deep sense of the invaluable benefits which had been rendered by the society to female emigrants, and of its beneficial influence upon the prosperity of the colonies. Mrs. Gawler, who has for seventeen years been corresponding secretary of the Female Emigration Society of South Australia, made a few remarks upon the advantages the colonies have derived from the society, and she showed that by the emigrants being kept well employed by the matron during the voyage, they were far more industrious upon their arrival in the colony than they would be were they allowed to spend their time in idleness. Bishop Perry drew particular attention to the state of the funds of the society, which he said were in a very unsatisfactory condition. During the last few years the expenditure had greatly exceeded the income, and it was absolutely necessary that, if the work of this useful society was to be continued, the funds must be considerably augmented by donations and subscriptions. He therefore appealed to all present to become annual subscribers, and to assist the committee in every possible manner. Mrs. Chapman observed that gifts of clothing and all kinds of articles would be found of great service. After a few remarks by the chairman, in which he stated that he hoped great good would result from this meeting, the proceedings were closed by the benediction. Specimens of the emigrants' work during the voyages were exhibited after the meeting, and a sale was held of useful and fancy articles for the benefit of the society."

NEXT SATURDAY we shall sell land, in building plots, in the Eastern and Western suburbs, as follows:—Bondi, the Queenscliff Estate, in allotments; worth buying for building, for holding, or for speculative purposes, as the land is certain to double in value during the coming twelve months; communication by tramway. LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—WEDNESDAY, MAY 25.

Banco Court.—(Before Sir WILLIAM MANNING and a jury of four.)

CAMPBELL V. HANSARD.

Sir George Innes and Mr. C. B. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Daintrey and Jones, appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Darley, Q.C., and Mr. Pilcher, instructed by Messrs. Owen and Owen, appeared for the defendant.

The plaintiff's reply in this case was continued this morning. It will be remembered that this was an action of ejectment, brought to recover possession of 24 acres, situate in Middle Harbour. The plaintiff proved a documentary title; the defendant proved a documentary title, and also attempted to set up possession for more than 20 years. In the reply, the plaintiff called a number of witnesses to disprove the defendant's exclusive possession.

After Counsel's addresses to the jury—

His HONOR pointed out that the first question was the plaintiff's title apart from her title by possession. The jury would have to decide whether previous to the purchase of the lottery ticket by Mr. Terry from the Bank of Australia, the property in question had been sold, or contracted to be sold. It would be difficult to avoid the conclusion that the plaintiff's documentary title was complete. But then comes the question whether the defendant has proved more than 20 years' possession. His Honor here reviewed at considerable length the alleged acts of dominion set up in the defendant's case, which our readers will remember. The case must be decided by the answer which the jury gave to the question, whether or not there had been more than 20 years' adverse possession in the defendant.

The jury, without leaving the box, found a verdict for the plaintiff.

Jury Court.—(Before the CHIEF JUSTICE and a jury of four.)

HEMMING V. THE BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

Mr. Pilcher and Mr. Stephen, instructed by Mr. Rolin, appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Darley, Q.C., Mr. Salomons, Q.C., and Mr. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Allen and Allen, appeared for the defendants.

The declaration alleged that the defendant bank contracted with William Hemming, the plaintiff, to honour the plaintiff's cheque or cheques, although there might be no moneys in the hands of the defendants applicable to that purpose at the time of presentment, so long as the indebtedness of the plaintiff to the defendants should not at the time of presentment, together with the amount of such cheque or cheques, exceed the sum of £500. During the subsistence of this contract the plaintiff drew on the defendant bank three cheques, for £7 10s., for £10, and for £5 each respectively. These cheques were duly presented, and were dishonoured. It was for the breach of contract by such dishonour that the action was brought. There was a second count against the defendant bank for detaining from the plaintiff a certain cash credit bond executed by the plaintiff and one D. L. Levy. The defendant bank pleaded, inter alia, that the cheques mentioned in the declaration were drawn by the plaintiff and presented for payment under, and by virtue of, a certain cash credit bond, dated June 15, 1874, and executed by the plaintiff and by one David Lawrence Levy as surety for the plaintiff. Before the presentation and nonpayment of the cheques the plaintiff was indebted to the defendant, bank, in £423 3s. 5d., which debt was secured by the bond. Previous to the presentation and nonpayment of the cheques the defendant bank received notice from David Lawrence Levy that he was in insolvent circumstances, and about immediately to sequestrate his estate. Immediately after receiving this notice the defendant bank made a demand on the plaintiff, in accordance with the terms of the bond, for the payment to them of the £423 3s. 5d. due. This the plaintiff refused to do; thereupon the defendant bank refused to advance any more money under the bond, or to honour any cheques under it. The defendant bank further paid £15 2s. 6d. into court, and pleaded that the same was sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim. The plaintiff claimed £5000.

The plaintiff proved the making, the presentment, and the dishonour of the cheques declared upon. He also put into evidence the bond alluded to in the pleadings. The material contents of this bond will appear from the arguments which followed.

Mr. Salomons, Q.C., submitted that the plaintiff must be nonsuited. Under this bond there is no express undertaking by the bank to advance one shilling; nor is there any implied undertaking by the bank to do so. Upon this pure question of law, and without any regard to any transactions between the parties, the plaintiff cannot maintain his action, and must be nonsuited.

Mr. Pilcher having replied,

His HONOR considered the point a new one. By the bond Mr. Levy became surety to the bank. Mr. Levy gave a guarantee that such cheques as the bank should honour would be paid. There is no stipulation that the bank should make any advance whatever. The bank cannot be bound to do a thing which it has not agreed to do. As a first impression, and without precedent to guide me, I think that the plaintiff ought to be nonsuited.

MAUNSELL V. MUDGE.

Mr. Manning, instructed by Mr. Shepherd, appeared for the plaintiff; Dr. Donovan, instructed by Messrs. Iceton and Faithfull, appeared for the defendant.

This was an action of ejectment, brought by George Maunsell, Police Magistrate at Albury, to recover possession of certain land situate at Albury. The plaintiff's title was purely documentary. It appeared from his case that the defendant had mortgaged the land in question to the Albury Building Society. Having made default, the society sold it to the plaintiff under the power of sale contained in their mortgage. The deed of mortgage to the Albury Building Society stated that it was made subject to a prior indenture of mortgage to certain trustees, therein named, of the Beechworth Building Society. In the defence, Dr. Donovan raised the point that the mortgage through which the plaintiff claimed showed that the legal estate was outstanding in the trustees of the Beechworth society, and that the plaintiff, claiming through the Albury society, was bound by that statement in the mortgage deed, and that therefore he was not entitled to recover.

After argument, his Honor decided that the defendant was stopped from setting up a title in the Beechworth society, and he accordingly directed the jury to find for the plaintiff.

Verdict for the plaintiff.

HUMBERSTONE V. PLUNKETT.

This was an action on a foreign bill of exchange, now overdue, given by the defendant to the plaintiff.

Mr. Manning, instructed by Mr. Shepherd, appeared for the plaintiff; the defendant did not appear.

Verdict for the plaintiff, £230.

WHEELER V. HUXLEY AND ANOTHER.

Dr. Sly, instructed by Messrs. Fitzhardinge and Son, appeared for the defendants. The plaintiff was not represented.

This was an action of ejectment, brought to recover possession of certain land situated at Moss Vale.

Dr. Sly informed the Court that the case had, by the consent of the parties, been referred to the arbitration of Mr. C. B. Stephen, who had decided in favour of the defendants. The plaintiff consented to allow the decision of the arbitrator to be entered as a verdict.

The jury accordingly found a verdict for the defendants.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

WEDNESDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge DOWLING.)

ZIONS V. HOPKINS AND ANOTHER.

This was a Supreme Court issue. The plaintiff sued defendants to recover £15 2s., the value of 58 cases of grapes sent to him from Port Macquarie, and sold by the defendants. The defence was that £3 13s., the whole amount realized on the grapes, which were in a bad condition when they arrived, had been paid into court. Mr. Foster, instructed by Messrs. Pigott and Trickett, appeared for the plaintiff; and Dr. Sly, instructed by Mr. J. F. Fitzhardinge, for the defence. Verdict for the defendants.

The Court then adjourned until Friday morning.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 25.

(Before his Honor Mr. Justice WINDEYER.)

The sittings of the Central Criminal Court were resumed at the Darlinghurst Courthouse, this morning, when the Attorney-General (Hon. R. Wisdom) prosecuted for the Crown.

BURGLARY.

William Skinner alias Furness, and William Thompson alias Carr, were arraigned upon a charge of burglariously entering the dwelling-house of John Riekie, at Sydney, with the intent of stealing the moneys, goods, and chattels of the said John Riekie, and stealing the sum of £11 therefrom, on March 4th. The prisoners pleaded not guilty, Skinner being defended by Mr. G. H. Reid, instructed by Mr. Carroll; Thompson conducted his own defence. The evidence for the Crown went to show that early in the morning of the day in question the hotel in the occupation of the prosecutor was entered, and the prosecutor was awakened by the noise. On waking he saw a man in the room whom he seized, and a tussle ensued, during which a second man came up and hit him three blows on the head with a stone, and a fourth in the eye; and the prosecutor identified the prisoners as the men, swearing positively to Skinner, and as to Thompson, stating that from his general appearance he was quite satisfied as to his identity. Upon examination of the premises it was discovered that £4 in silver and £7 in notes and silver had been taken, and a sum exceeding this in amount was discovered shortly afterwards in Skinner's possession. The case for the Crown was not concluded until past 5 p.m., when Mr. Reid addressed the jury on behalf of the prisoner Skinner, and Thompson made a long speech in his own defence. His Honor having summed up the jury retired at twenty-five minutes to 7 p.m., and at 7.15 o'clock returned into Court with a verdict of guilty against both prisoners, and several previous convictions being proved, they were sentenced, Skinner to eight years' hard labour on the roads, and Thompson to fifteen years' hard labour on the roads, the first two years to be in irons.

The Court then adjourned sine die.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

An unusually large number of minor charges were preferred against prisoners in this court yesterday.

Charles P. Barber, alias Charles Hunt, a respectable-looking lad, described as a collector, was charged, before Messrs. Solomon and Booth, with having stolen a gold watch, the property of J. A. G. M'Hale. It appeared that prosecutor was in the Metropolitan Hotel with a friend when he missed the watch. He gave information of his loss to the detectives, and they ascertained that the watch had been pawned by the prisoner for £2, with a broker named Symons. Prisoner stated that he purchased the watch; but the Bench did not credit his statement, and committed him for trial at the Quarter Sessions.

A number of women, subjects of a recent raid by the police, were sent to gaol for various terms, on charges of being disorderly prostitutes. Three lads, each under 16 years of age, found wandering about without a habitation or lawful means of support, were ordered to be sent to the Vernon.

Several lads were punished for letting off fireworks in the streets during the Queen's birthday; Charlotte Gorman, 70, for soliciting alms in Elizabeth-street, and Elizabeth Young, 65, found to have no visible means of support, were sent to prison for three months.

William Copman, alias Fotham, was sent to prison for two months for assaulting Constable Rafferty in the execution of his duty, and fined £5, or three months in addition, for using obscene language.

The next case was a remarkable one, and was heard before Messrs. Solomon and Booth. It was that of a man named James Foreman, described as a labourer, who, conscience-stricken, delivered himself to justice, for having stolen a cash-box containing about £6 in money as far back as September, 1879. Constable Caldwell said that on the 23rd instant, while in Clarence-street, prisoner asked him if he wanted a charge; he, in return, asked him what it was in connection with, and prisoner then said, "It has been working on my mind ever since; I have not had any peace since I did it; it is a cashbox I stole from Mr. Yeo, of Pitt-street." Mr. Yeo was examined, and said that the prisoner was in his employ at the time the cashbox was missed; the box was found in a coachhouse, broken open, the money being taken, and some papers being left. The prisoner was committed for trial, and though the Bench offered him bail, he declined to accept it.

Thomas Daly, a middle-aged man, was charged with having been found at night in Goulburn-street, with housebreaking implements in his possession. Constable Moss, who apprehended him, said he found him attempting to enter the gate of a house in Goulburn-street, and that he knew him to be a thief. The housebreaking implements were two chisels, curved in a manner apparently to facilitate the opening of doors and windows. The prisoner could not make a satisfactory defence, and the Bench sentenced him to 14 days' imprisonment, Mr. Solomon saying:—"Your character is against you. The case is not a bad one. If your character had been good we would have discharged you."

WATER POLICE COURT.

Yesterday, the business in the Charge Court was disposed of by Messrs. Senior, Stanley, and M'Lean, while that of the Summons Court was dealt with by Captain Jenkins and Messrs. V. Brown, and E. Hunt. Mr. Marsh, W.P.M., was occupied throughout the day in disposing of small debt cases.

Sam Kum War, for obstructing a carriage way, and Emil Oehbach, for placing timber on a footway, were each fined 10s. For a similar offence Charles Waterhouse was fined 5s.

On the informations of Inspector Waters, Alfred Higgs, Peter Higgs, Albert Turner, and Arthur Rodman were each fined £2 and costs, for shooting with firearms in the Borough of Randwick, on Sunday, 8th instant. For breaches of the Publicans' Act Richard West, Samuel Royall, and Louisa Cohen were each fined £1 and costs. The charges were, neglecting to keep a lamp alight, selling after hours, and keeping house open on Sunday. Margaret Ford, for permitting music to be played in her licensed house, was fined £2 and costs.

For either keeping their shops open on Sunday, or selling fruit on that day, the following persons were fined 5s. each and costs:—Charles Carroll, William Tuey, David M'Carthy, Edmund Ball, and Henry Moore.

Louis Serbrief and George Stephens, for keeping their houses open for the entertainment of promiscuous persons, were each fined 5s. and costs.

Henry Latham, a youth, was charged with embezzling 10s., and 15s., the moneys of his master, James Godfrey, and was committed for trial at the Quarter Sessions.

Frederick Hardy, a dealer, on a charge of obtaining £3 10s. from Mary Ann Smith, by means of a valueless cheque, was also committed for trial.

William M'Namara, labourer, for stealing about 6s., the moneys of Frederick Alexander, was sent to gaol with hard labour for a month.

Mary Ann Brown, 23 years, for being drunk and disorderly in Crown-street, was fined 10s. Penalties of 40s. and £5 were also imposed upon the same defendant for using obscene language and damaging furniture belonging to Thomas Lincroft.

Thomas Buckley, 19 years, dealer, pleaded guilty to so furiously driving a horse and cart on the Botany Road as to endanger the life of Mr. Macquarie, and was fined 40s., and also ordered to pay the complainant's costs, amounting to £3.

Thomas Fairly, for being drunk in George-street, whilst in charge of his horse and cab, was fined 20s.

John Baker, 21 years, for behaving in a riotous manner in the parlour of the Great Northern Hotel, North Willoughby, was fined 40s.

Louis Durul, 23 years, for letting off fireworks in George-street during the day time, was fined 20s., while a similar penalty was imposed upon Ah Chong, 30 years, and Ling Chee, for discharging fireworks in Pitt-street. A number of youths were also fined in sums of 10s. or 5s. for letting off fireworks.

NEWTOWN POLICE COURT.

Yesterday, before Messrs. A. Barden and W. Kendall, Walter Downing and Robert Goodhew were each fined 10s. for letting off fireworks in the public streets.

George Brown, Richard Evans, and John Kayls were summoned for wilfully being at such a distance from their horses as to have no control of them. This involved the question of owners of teams working two or three teams with one driver, the following teams being chained to the driver's own dray. The defendants were each fined 10s., and 2s. 6d. costs, or 4 days in gaol.

Michael H. Hennessy, for a breach of the Publicans' Act, was fined 2s. 6d. and 5s. 6d. costs, or 1 day.

W. Creasy, for cruelty to a bullock, by keeping it without food, was ordered to pay a penalty of 10s., and 4s. 10d. costs, or 4 days.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Your correspondent "Victor" has my warmest sympathy. If the Bunnerong and La Perouse Road has never been in better condition during the "years back" mentioned by him, then I must say it is a disgrace to all who are responsible for such a state of things. The trustees cannot be aware of the almost impassable state of the road in some places, or they would not suffer it to remain in the present condition one day longer. I do not see why the officers of the Animals' Protection Society should not take action against them for the amount of suffering caused by the systematic neglect on their part. Should any of the trustees individually offend against the laws, by working a horse unfit for the purpose, he would immediately render himself liable to prosecution. And why should it not be reckoned as an indictable offence for a number of men to compel those who cannot do otherwise to travel over such a wretched road, thereby perpetrating acts of cruelty hourly? But kindness to animals appears to be one of the shortcomings of the people of this colony. Animal life and feeling are treated in such a reckless manner as to astonish those who are not accustomed to it. The power of kindness to horses is little understood; if it were we should not see the whip used so lavishly as it often is. Few people are aware of the susceptibility of the horse to the influence of systematically kind treatment. I have frequently seen horses given up as incurable in temper taken in hand by humane and intelligent drivers, and in the course of a few weeks made quite tractable and docile. If we want to educate our children to become good citizens, we must be very careful not to omit kindness to the brute creation; and, more than that, we must let them see that their fathers not only taught the doctrine, but were at all times ready to practice it, and so advance the cause of

May 18. HUMANITY.

NEXT SATURDAY we shall sell land, in building plots, in the Eastern and Western suburbs, as follows:—Bondi, the Queenscliff Estate, in allotments; worth buying for building, for holding, or for speculative purposes, as the land is certain to double in value during the coming twelve months; communication by tramway. Petersham, the Sea View Estate, 77 lots to choose from; communication by train. Both properties command splendid water and land views. Torrens' title, easy terms; free tram and train tickets. Hardie and Gorman, auctioneers.—ADV.

WRECK OF THE TARARUA.

Frank Denz, a seaman of the ill-fated steamer Tararua, gave the following episode in the catastrophe to the Rev. O. W. Fairclough, Wesleyan minister, of Invercargill, who adds—"The man's narrative was taken down from his lips, and is in no way coloured. I merely arranged his utterances to make them intelligible." Denz said: I married in Auckland two years and a half ago. We had one child, fifteen months old. I persuaded my wife to visit Melbourne, the company letting me take her over at half price. When she came on board, Captain Garrard came forward and said to her, "I'll give you the other half of the fare, and you can buy a new dress with it." Poor girl, she never got it. When we got to Port Chalmers, my wife and Mary Kelly went to Dunedin. I warned them carefully to come by the 3 o'clock train. I wish to the Lord I had told them 6 o'clock. The man who had been at the wheel before me relieved me for a few minutes to get some coffee. I took the coffee, and came out to drink it just as the ship struck. She was full of water almost at once. My wife, Mary Kelly, and another woman, clung to me. The backwash of the sea that broke over the ship carried us right aft. The women all screamed at first, but were soon brave, and believed us when we said that there was no danger. They were put in the smoke-house, and covered. I put a rug and my jacket on my wife. Mary Kelly would not go into the house, but helped with the ropes, and seemed to wish to encourage the men; but they were not afraid. They made the same noise as ever. You would have thought, to hear them swear, that they could not sink. I was not more afraid than the rest, but the wife kept clinging to me, and that made me weak. The captain was cross, and scolded me; but I could not push her away at such a time. I wish to God I had taken my chum's advice and put her and the child in the second mate's boat; then I would not have to look for them on the beach. When the carpenter was ordered out of the boat for the mate to take charge, he said, "Thank God I'm safe." The ship was the safest place then. If the wind had not come up she would have been there yet. The men complained of one of the hands in the boat; he was afraid of getting wet, and kept looking for the sea and missing stroke. The captain had him hoisted out. He also said, "I praise God I'm out of her." I was ordered to take his place. I was crying, as I could not bear leaving the wife and child. The captain was not cross then. He persuaded me, and held out his arms for the child. I gave her to him, and said, "Now, captain, you'll look after her, won't you?" He said, "Yes, Frank, I will be sure of that." I tied the baby's hood on. This is it. (holding up a little blue hood); I found it on the beach. I tied this shawl (holding it up) round the wife, and lashed it on with two Manila yarns. See how it's torn with washing off. That's all that's left to me now. I wouldn't take £50 for those two things. I had £19 and a watch. I gave them to her to make her feel safe, and so that she would have something if I was drowned. She cried out to the other women, "Don't be afraid, Frank will save us; he's going in the boat." She thought I could do anything, poor girl. I think I hear her now. Our boat was 24 feet long, but it upset end over end, and not sideways. That will show you how rough the sea was. We all got ashore but the boy who cleaned the brass on the ship. Just before we upset the poor little chap said, "I believe it's through me that the vessel struck, for I'm very unlucky." I daresay those on board thought it very hard that we didn't come back, but they saw the fix we were in. I would have gone back to the wife if I had been sure of being lost. Perhaps I wouldn't now, but all that day I would. I never prayed so much in my life before. I prayed for help, and then ran again and again to the point, to see if there was a steamer coming from the Bluff. I saw, when the sea broke away the side of the smoke-house, and the captain led the women forward, that he had my little girl in his arms. When the cook came ashore he told me that Mary Kelly was washed off at the same time as himself, and that he did his best to save her, but could not. Dr. Campbell was setting the engineer's leg, and was washed off at the same time. Long before dark all the women were drowned, and all the children but my child. The captain was in the rigging holding her. There were about forty men in the rigging. I kept my eye on them as it grew darker. The last thing I saw was the captain holding my little girl. I am sure he died with her in his arms, but he could not save her. No, it was not to be; it was not to be. (And playing with the little blue hood that was his girl's he sobbed audibly.)

THE MURDER OF TROOPER PEARCE.

The Hamilton Spectator's Narracoorte correspondent supplies the following particulars of the murder of trooper Pearce, a report of which we have only had by wire in condensed form:—"One of the most cowardly and brutal cases of murder that has ever come under my notice was committed at Kingston on Monday, 16th May, under the following circumstances:—A warrant having been issued for a man named Robert Johnson for supplying liquor to the blacks, police-trooper Pearce, of Kingston, went out to serve same, and arrested his man about eight miles from the town on the road to Coolatoo. Having heard the charge, Johnson came with the trooper for four miles, when he refused to go any further, and got off his horse. Pearce also dismounted, and took out the handcuffs, with a view to making his prisoner proceed. Johnson, on seeing the handcuffs, said, 'Oh! don't put those things on me; I'll go.' Pearce then replaced the handcuffs in his saddle, and had his foot in the stirrup to remount, when Johnson stabbed him in the back with a large shoemaker's knife, and in the side of the head. Pearce turned round to clutch his assailant, and in doing so, caught the knife in his hand and nearly severed the fingers. Johnson then made a cut at his (Pearce's) leg, and cut his thigh to the bone. It is presumed that poor Pearce must have then fainted, as when he was found, some four hours after the attack, he was wounded in twenty-four different places, nineteen of those twenty-four wounds being dangerous. The unfortunate man was found by a young man driving a mare and foal, and he immediately rushed off to Kingston, and Pearce was brought in. Sergeant Morris as soon as possible started in pursuit of Johnson, and succeeded in catching him in about an hour. Johnson is a Swede, about fifty years of age, with light hair, whiskers and beard turning gray, 5 feet 10 inches high. When sergeant Morris placed his revolver to the wretch's head and told him the charge, he coolly said, 'You've made a mistake; it's not me.' The knife, however, was found in his possession, and Pearce, who remained conscious till his death, immediately identified the prisoner. Dr. Gunning was telegraphed for, and went down by the mid-day train. No hopes could be given of recovery, and Pearce's dying depositions were taken in the afternoon. Pearce's friends were sent for, and arrived on Wednesday from Adelaide in time to see him alive, as he did not die until about 9 o'clock in the evening. Pearce was a general favourite, and the greatest indignation and horror are expressed towards his murderer. Mr. Pearce, the father of the victim, is a member of the Assembly of South Australia, and it was only through some little family tiff that his son joined the force. On the relief party arriving on the scene of the outrage, they found the trooper's saddle and revolver (with the charges drawn) by his (Pearce's) side, the object of the scoundrel having evidently been to return at night and bury the body in one of the holes in the Coorong. The prisoner, when brought in by sergeant Morris, was nearly lynched; he has since expressed no sorrow for his crime, and when told on Wednesday evening that his victim was sinking fast, he said, "Let the —— die, he can't swear against me then."

COCK OF THE WALK and FLYING SHALES.

GEORGE KISS has received instructions from Reginald Dowling, Esq., Forbes, to sell by auction, at the Bazaar, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, 21st June next, at 3 o'clock p.m.,
COCK OF THE WALK, a rich mottled brown horse, with black points, 7 years old, 16-1, by Just in Time (Hawkins'), by Merrylegs (Fort's), by Pellisier (Cockshott's), by Performer (Taylor's), by Phenomenon (Ramsdale's), by Wildfire (Ramsdale's), by Old Fire Fire (Kirby's), by Fireaway (West's), by Old Fireaway (Jenkinson's); dam by Cleveland Shortlegs (Watson's), g. dam by Cottager (Giles').
CLEVELAND SHORTLEGS, of the old original Cleveland breed, by Noble Surprise, dam by Old Golden Elephant, g. dam by Summer Cock, g. g. dam by Lucky All, g. g. g. dam by the celebrated mare, Cleveland Fancy.
Noble Surprise by Bay Chilton, by Catton, by Old Grand Turk.
Old Golden Elephant, by Noble by Jolliffe. MERRYLEGS' dam was by the Cleveland horse Ebor by Retriever, dam by Golden Peppin, g. dam by Cleveland, g. g. dam by Admiral.
ALL OF THE CLEVELAND BREED.
It will thus be seen that COCK OF THE WALK not only contains in himself the best and oldest blood in direct descent from Fireaway, but also the best Cleveland coaching blood, and is in action, colour, and appearance a thorough likeness to his grand sire, CLEVELAND SHORTLEGS, exported to Germany.
FLYING SHALES, a rich bay horse, with black points, 9 years old, 15-3, by Flying Comet (Champeney's), by The North Star (Cook's), by Wild Fire (Cook's), by Wild Fire (Ramsdale's), by Old Wildfire (Kirby's), by Fireaway (West's), by Old Fireaway (Jenkinson's).
Dam by Phenomenon (Pennington's), by Old Phenomenon (Dymock's), by Bond's Phenomenon, by Theobald's Norfolk Cob (Burgess'), by Young Fireaway (Burgess'), by Old Fireaway (Jenkinson's).
Jenkinson's Fireaway traces in a direct line to Pretender, foaled in 1771, by Marske, the sire of Eclipse. Pretender's dam by Bajazet, a son of the Godolphin Arabian.
☞ These horses have been specially selected regardless of trouble and expense by Mr. Dowling, in England (who has for many years been connected with stock in this colony), as being the most serviceable sires for our class of mares to be obtained in England. They have undeniable pedigrees, plenty of substance, good colours, and are grand movers, one of which has done over seventeen miles an hour carrying 12 stone.

GRAND FATTENING STATION.

TULLOONA.

GWYDIR DISTRICT.

PITT, SON, and BADGERY have received instructions from Messrs. Gill and Pain to offer by public auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 15th June next, at 12 o'clock,
Their well-known fattening station in the Gwydir district, known as TULLOONA.
and comprising the blocks or runs—Tulloona, Tulloona South, Tay Green and Tay Green South, of an estimated area of 220,000 acres.
Together with about
100,000 sheep
3,500 Cattle
20,000 acres land.

The run which is situate about 50 miles from Warialda, 40 ditto from Moree, 30 ditto from Goondiwindi, Queensland, and 100 miles from Narrabri (to which the railway is now being constructed) is surrounded by the noted fattening properties of Messrs. Dangar, Adams, Brown, Doyle, and Dr. Jenkins.
The country consists of myall and salt bush plains, with occasional belts of timber, the whole being of the richest fattening description, and very heavily grassed.
The owners have expended a very large sum of money, in improving and securing the run, and it is estimated to carry quite 50,000 more sheep than those now depasturing on it.
The fencing is all new and substantial, and consists principally of 6 wires and top rail, and 5 wires.
Of the Sheep, about 35,000 are lambing ewes, the balance being wethers up to 4 years and younger sheep; they bear an excellent reputation, and the wool realized in the May sales last year up to 15d per lb in the grease.
The Cattle are a good lot, about half being of fattening ages, and there are now 500 bullocks ready for market.

The Terms will be one third cash and the balance at 1, 2, and 3 years, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum. Taking into consideration the fact that the purchaser will have a return of over £30,000 within six months, the terms may be looked on as exceedingly liberal.
The Agents would strongly advise capitalists on the look out for an exceptionally good property to inspect Tulloona, for they can from long personal knowledge testify to its being one of the most heavily grassed and best fattening runs in New South Wales.
Any further information can be had on application to the agents,
PITT, SON, and BADGERY.
